Jap Troops Land On Island Near Philippine Capital

Manila Directly Attacked From Air; 300 United States Planes Are Claimed Destroyed.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Japanese troops were reported today to have landed with the probable help of "fishermen" fifth-columnists on Lubang Island; near the entrance to Manila Bay, as Japanese planes carried out widespread raids on military objectives throughout the Philippines, including moonlit assaults on Manila itself.

Casualty List

Next of kin have been notified by the War Department of death in the Pacific of the following Atlantans:

Thomas F. Byrd Jr., 20, Wheeler Field, Hawaii, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Williams, 200 Merritts avenue, Northeast.

William H. Manley, 23, aviation mechanic, Wheeler Field, Hawaii, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emory S. Manley, of near Hapeville.

Corporal Malachi J. Cashen, Lamont, Iowa, at Pearl Harbor.

Private Robert Shattuck, 21, Blue River, Wis., at Hickam Field, Hawaii.

First Lieutenant Hans Christiansen, 21, Woodland, Cal., Marine aviator, at Pearl Harbor.

Robert Niedzwiecki, 22, Grand Rapids, Mich., at Hawaii.

Second Lieutenant Forge A. Whiteman, Sedalia, Mo., Air Corps, at Pearl Harbor.

Gordon Mitchell, Hoisington, Kan., Air Corps, at Hawaii.

John Fletcher, 32, of Janesville, Wis., Air Corps, at Wheeler Field, Hawaii.

Lieutenant James Dethick, 22, Ravenna, Ohio, Army Air Corps, at Honolulu.

Sergeant James Guthrie, Republican Grove, Va., Air Corps engineer, in Hawaii.

Private Dean W. Gebert, of Galesburg, Ill., at Honolulu.

Sergeant Vincent M. Horan, Stamford, Conn., at Honolulu.

Domei, Japanese news agency, said it was "understood Japanese forces have destroyed more than 300 American planes, including 200 in dogfights and on the ground in Hawaii. The remainder, it said, were 'believed' destroyed in the Philippines. Of the total the news agency said 30 were fortress planes and 30 long-range bombers.

A complete blackout of coastal British Columbia and the lower mainland was ordered because "the war situation is such that an attack by Japanese forces on the Pacific northwest coast is imminent."

Motor Traffic Halted.

All motor traffic on Victoria street was halted at 6 o'clock by naval policemen. Drivers were told to go home.

The report of the landing on Lubang, some 60 miles southwest of the big American naval base of Cavite, was not confirmed officially, but enough credence was placed in it that defense officers were trying urgently to contact the Provincial Governor.

Japanese Fifth Column activity also was reported unofficially from Davao, on the big southern island of Mindanao where 25,000 Japanese present a vital threat to Philippine security. One report said 3,000 armed Japanese already were resisting.

The United States and Britain, joined again by high destiny, had declared war yesterday upon Japan, an antagonist that had sprung as from the dark and was assaulting every major Pacific bastion of the English-speaking world.

With a moving and memorable unity, in two great democratic forums, the partnership was formed, a partnership of blood and race, of ancient memories and ancient faith.

In the American congress—senate and house—there was but a single ray to President Roosevelt's request that the Japanese challenge be accepted. In parliament, where Winston Churchill announced before Washington had acted that Britain was at war with Japan, Laborite and Tory stood cheering side by side in a house that seemed to have buried the

City, State Take Swift Action in Defense Efforts

Recruiting Officers Are Crowded With Clamoring Youths.

By WILLARD COPE.

War-galvanized Atlanta and Georgia went into swift official action yesterday.

Ranging from the humming headquarters of federal, state and city functionaries—each a nerve center of preparatory organization—to recruiting offices crowded with insistent youth, clamoring to enlist, quarters throughout the city devoted to national defense were scenes of subdued excitement under heavy pressure, while every facility vital to national or local existence took on a distinct military aspect.

Much long-range co-ordination of effort was accomplished.

Defense Group Formed.

A Citizens Defense Committee, with Hughes Spalding as temporary chairman, was formed by the Governor for over-all supervision of diverse efforts, and Colonel Lindley M. Camp, commander of the State Defense Corps, placed his force of 4,945 uniformed and armed men and 612 officers at the immediate disposal of Major General John P. Smith, commanding the Army's Fourth Corps Area.

Major Oren Warren, adjutant of the corps, directed assignment of his men throughout the state to guard duty at waterworks, industrial plants and other strategically important posts. Atlanta's and DeKalb county's waterworks were among those under strict guard by corps units.

Governor-Aid Sought.

The regional headquarters of the Office of Civilian Defense, headed by Dr. Joseph C. Menendez, sent urgent telegrams to governors of the eight states it embraces for quick completion of the outlined set-up of air-raid wardens, auxiliary firemen and police, medical emergency service and bomb extinction and evacuation forces. His telegram read:

"Urgent urgency that your state recruit all services to full war strength and complete training. Hold regular drills in preparation for any emergency. Advise."

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, in a long-distance telephone call to J. E. Farrell, assistant to Dr. Menendez, urged immediate opening of recruiting offices for these services in every Georgia county.

WAR DECLARED—With a stroke of the pen, President Roosevelt yesterday became the second President in 24 years to sign a United States declaration of war. Looking on as the President signed the joint resolution, passed with but one dissenting vote only a short time after he addressed the congress are Vice President Wallace, Speaker Rayburn, Representative McCormack, Democrat, Massachusetts; Senator McNary, Republican, Oregon, and Senator Barkley, Democrat, Kentucky.

Atlanta Calm, Quietly Wants Knockout Blow

By LAMAR Q. BALL.

The average Atlantan acted yesterday just as any normal person would act when a little guy sneaks up and hits him a staggering blow from behind.

He had turned to face the artful assailant and was measuring the distance for an effective knockout blow.

There was no hysteria in the streets of Atlanta yesterday.

Men and women and even the young folks moved quietly about on the business that brought them downtown.

The Christmas shoppers who were moving along the sidewalks from store to store were going quietly about the business of collecting the gifts they would need on Christmas morning.

There were no babbling voices among the women who were moving quietly through the aisles of the stores and along the streets. Inside the stores, at the counters, women were buying quietly and not so beligerently as they seemed.

Navy Sends Three Warships to Hunt Intercepted Planes

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Brigadier General William Ord Ryan, of the Fourth Interceptor Command, said tonight that a large number of unidentified planes approached the Golden Gate tonight, but were sighted and driven back to sea.

"They came from the sea, were turned back, and the Navy has sent out three vessels to find where they came from," General Ryan said.

"I don't know how many planes there were, but there were a large number.

"They got up to the Golden Gate and then turned about and headed southwest."

General Ryan was asked whether he thought they were Japanese bombers.

"Well, they weren't army planes, they weren't navy planes, and you can be sure they weren't civilian planes," he answered.

The general was asked if he was willing to be quoted directly.

"Certainly," he said.

The general's statement came at the end of three strange hours in which this city of 630,000 population—4,700 miles from Yokohama—alternately believed it was in peril of immediate air assault, and that the blackout ordered by air raid wardens was merely practice.

Police who ordered the blackout at 6:20 p. m. announced at 7:30 p. m. that lights could be turned on again, but before many were relighted, a second blackout was decreed. The interceptor command said it had not lifted the blackout.

Residents along Marina boulevard, fronting the bay near the Golden Gate, said 60 Army trucks rushed anti-aircraft guns to the water's edge during the blackout.

At 6:45 p. m., 25 minutes after the first warning to the chief's office, no planes had appeared over the city.

A huge mobile anti-aircraft searchlight went into action at the San Francisco beach, its rays searching the sky.

Air raid warnings began to sound throughout the city at 6:50 p. m. as fire trucks were backed from their stalls, under a pre-arranged system, and sounded their sirens.

Along Marina boulevard, a fashionable thoroughfare near the Presidio on the north side of San Francisco, soldiers caused householders to turn out their house lights.

Wilbur Sanders, Associated Press editor living in the Sunset district in the southwestern part of the city, said at 6:55 he heard the sound of many airplane engines.

The planes appeared to be heading seaward, Sanders said, indicating they might be interceptors from near-by military airports.

A few minutes after the first sirens were heard in outlying districts, others began joining in and a continuous wail filled the air.

Searchlight Glare.

Street lights in the downtown area were turned off at 7 p. m. and restaurants and other business establishments blacked out.

Some business signs still burned, however.

A large sign advertising personal loans still blazed across the street from the Associated Press office. Other neon signs were alight.

After the first searchlight flared up at the beach, Army Air Corps groundsmen from the Presidio brought 15 others into play.

They lighted the skies along the western beach between the Golden Gate and the southern limits of the city.

WOMEN, CHILDREN ORDERED FROM FORT MACARTHUR

FORT MACARTHUR, Cal., Dec. 8.—(INS)—Women and children tonight were ordered evacuated from Fort MacArthur, overlooking the Los Angeles harbor.

Colonel W. W. Hicks, commandant, who issued the order, also sent the following message to Sheriff Eugene Biscailuz:

"Early evacuation of all women, children, aged and infirm persons, other than defense workers, from the zones adjacent to aircraft factories, large oil tank farms and refineries is desirable at this time."

Even Pennies Big Aid To Atlanta Destitute

Needy Families Can Become Self-Supporting With Help.

By FRANK DRAKE.

Pennies make dimes and dimes make dollars and dollars—Opportunity fund dollars, make self-supporting, self-respecting families out of needy families here in Atlanta.

That's a short story of the Opportunity fund and its work and it's one that Atlantans should heed this Christmas.

People often read where a destitute family—which could be rehabilitated, needs $25, or $30, or $50 a month and say to themselves: "Why, that's too much, I can't give any sum like that."

They say "Let the rich take care of the poor."

Opportunity No 2

This past summer a man stood in Fulton superior court and admitted he participated in a burglary. The judge sentenced him to serve two years as the state's punishment for commission of a crime.

That man is serving time today—and his wife and twin sons are on the verge of starvation.

The state did not mean to sentence Mrs. T., who is 28, and her twins, Fred and Theo, 6, because they have committed no crime. They were innocent of his wrongdoing but right now they are paying too. That is why they have become—this mother and her sturdy twins, your Christmas Opportunity No. 2 in the campaign sponsored by The Constitution in co-operation with the Family Welfare Society to re-

The Life of Our Lord by Charles Dickens

Written for His Children in 1846-49 and Held a Family Secret for Nearly a Century

Opening Chapter of Story Author Wrote for His Children Tells Simply and Humbly of Nativity and Flight Into Egypt.

CHAPTER THE FIRST.

My dear Children:

I am very anxious that you should know something about the history of Jesus Christ. For everybody ought to know about Him. No one ever lived who was so good, so kind, so gentle, and so sorry for all people who did wrong, or were in any way ill or miserable, as He was. And as He is now in Heaven, where we hope to go, and all to meet each other after we are dead, and there he happy always together, you never can think what a good place Heaven is, without knowing who He was and what He did.

He was born, a long, long time ago—nearly two thousand years ago—at a place called Bethlehem. His father and mother lived in a city called Nazareth, but they were forced by business to travel to Bethlehem. His father's name was Joseph, and His mother's name was Mary. And the town being very full of people, also brought there by business, there was no room for Joseph and Mary in the Inn or in any house; so they went into a stable to lodge, and in this stable Jesus Christ was born. There was no cradle or anything of that kind there, so Mary laid her pretty little boy in what is called the manger, which is the place where the horses eat out of. And there He fell asleep.

Shepherds See Angels.

While He was asleep, some shepherds who were watching sheep in the fields saw an Angel from God, all light and beautiful, come moving over the grass towards them. At first they were afraid and fell down and hid their faces. But it said, "There is a Child born today in the city of Bethlehem near here, who will grow up to be so good that God will love Him as His own Son; and He will teach men to love one another, and not to quarrel and hurt one another; and His name will be Jesus Christ; and people will put that name in their prayers, because they will know God loves it, and will know that God should love it, too." And then the Angel told the shepherds to go to that stable, and look at that little Child in the manger. Which they did; and they kneeled down by it in its sleep, and said, "God bless this Child!"

Now the great place of all that country was Jerusalem—just as London is the great place in England—and at Jerusalem the King lived, whose name was King Herod. Some wise men came one day from a country a long way off in the East, and said to the King, "We have seen a star in the sky, which teaches us to know that a Child is born in Bethlehem, who will live to be a man whom all people will love." When King Herod heard this, he was jealous, for he was a wicked man. But he pretended not to be, and said to the wise men, "Whereabouts is this Child?" And the wise men said: "We don't know. But we think the star will show us; for the star has been moving on before us, all the way here, and is now standing still in the sky." Then Herod asked them to see if the star would show them where the Child lived, and ordered them, if they found the Child, to come back to him. So they went out, and the star went on, over their heads a little way before them, until it stopped over the house where the Child was. This was very wonderful, but God ordered it to be so.

Escape to Egypt.

When the star stopped, the wise men went in, and saw the Child with Mary His Mother. They loved Him very much, and gave Him some presents. Then they went away. But they did not go back to King Herod; for they thought he was jealous, though he had not said so. So they went away, by night, back into their own country. And an Angel came, and told Joseph and Mary to take the Child into a country called Egypt, or Herod would kill Him. So they escaped, too, in the night—the father, the mother, and the Child —and arrived there, safely.

But when this cruel Herod found that the wise men did not come back to him, and that he could not, therefore, find out where this Child, Jesus Christ, lived, he called his soldiers and captains to him, and told them to go and kill all the children in his dominions that were not more than two years old. The wicked men did so. The mothers of the children ran up and down the streets with them in their arms, trying to save them, and hide them in caves and cellars, but it was of no use. The soldiers with their swords killed all the children they could find. This dreadful murder was called the Murder of the Innocents, because the little children were so innocent.

King Herod hoped that Jesus Christ was one of them. But He was not, as you know, for He had escaped safely into Egypt. And He lived there, with His father and mother, until bad King Herod died.

Hundreds of Women Overrun Defense Centers Offering to Aid

By AMY PORTER.
NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Hundreds of women stormed defense training centers today, asking, "What can we do to help?" The centers were ready with answers. "You can wash dishes," a member of the American Women's Voluntary Services, Inc., informed one volunteer. The volunteer opened her mouth to speak, but it, finally said, "All right, when?" "Now," said the AWVS member. "Our canteen workers are very tired. You can relieve one of them. Hang your coat on that rack." Open All Night. The canteen was open all last night, serving coffee and sandwiches to soldiers and sailors before transporting them to their posts. Transportation was provided by the Motor Corps—women who have their own cars and who've passed road tests. The Red Cross was deluged with volunteers, its switchboard jammed with calls, its reception room offering standing room only. But the routine registration process was going forward smoothly. A half hour after opening its doors, the Red Cross had received 12 new applications for admission to the nurses aid course. It had agreed to send out instructors today to teach six new groups of eager women to make surgical dressings and other production service supplies. Study of Bombs. A police instructor for women air raid wardens opened his usual Monday morning class with the words, "Our subject for today is incendiary bombs." His class was most attentive. The Office of Civilian Defense, women's division, the fire and police departments, all reported a tremendous wave of new volunteers. All agencies are taking the added work in stride. As a spokesman for the Red Cross said, "We were prepared for a stepped up program in case of actual war. We've been operating on an emergency basis for two years. This is the same thing, only more so."

last of its partisanship. The President signed the declaration of war at 4:10 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

News Is Sombre. The news from the Pacific front was somber, but the struggle had only begun and Japan was engaged in operations of a most incredible magnitude and strain for a single power. Japanese bombers started dumping new loads of explosives on Singapore this morning (Tuesday), and were met by heavy anti-aircraft fire. British forces have broken up a Japanese landing party in North Borneo, the Netherlands news agency reported.

Carrier Langley Attacked. The U. S. Aircraft Carrier Langley was reported attacked in Malabag Bay near Davao in a series of daylight raids culminating in the raids early this morning on Manila. Other daylight objectives included Clark Field, a military airfield 40 miles north of Manila where 200 casualties were reported unofficially. At least 150 other casualties were reported outside the Manila area for a total of 350. (An NBC report said it was officially stated that ten Japanese bombers attacked Nichols Field at Manila, killing one soldier and wounding 12, all Americans. One U. S. hangar was damaged, and one officer's quarters was burned. (Other points were bombed with 100 dead and 100 wounded, half of casualties being civilians, the Army statement said as quoted by NBC.

Three Night Alarms. (CBS and NBC reports indicated there were three night alarms at Manila with the third lasting from about 3 a. m. today (2 p. m. Monday, E.S.T.) until 7:15 a. m. (At Fort McKinley a stray bomb injured two American soldiers, NBC said, and CBS announced that two Japanese attacks on Clark Field "produced sanguinary results on both sides." Eighty Japanese planes apparently based in Formosa took part in the high altitude raids, dogged by American interceptors. ("Manila was a bad dream throughout yesterday and last night," the CBS reporter said.) A reliable source said the Japanese were in full control of Lubang Island and the main city of the same name. The island controls waterways between the middle Philippine archipelago and the China sea.

Fishermen Established. Before the surprise Japanese onslaught on the United States possessions, Japanese fishermen were known to have entered the Philippines illegally and established themselves on Lubang and other smaller islands to the south. The island is mountainous, affording easy hideouts for Fifth Columnists. Meanwhile belated dispatches told how American pursuit planes beat off three separate Japanese air attack on the northern and western Philippine coasts after the raiders caused minor damage to air fields, bridges and buildings. The Japanese also dropped propaganda leaflets. The Iba area on the Luzon coast, 35 miles northwest of Olango naval station and 70 miles northwest of Manila also was reported under heavy attack with casualties totaling 100 dead, many injured. A Japanese radio broadcast from Formosa announced that the United States island of Guam "was taken without resistance." The air field at Davao was blasted at the same time the Langley was attacked. Twenty-four Japanese raiders struck at this field, hitting hangars and ruining runways. Fifty persons were reported killed in unconfirmed advices.

Summer Capital Raided. Other points raided in the Philippines were Baguio, summer mountain capital in mid-Luzon where slight damage was caused to the nearby Army camp; Camp Stuenkel, where a number of buildings were set afire and the United States Army phone connections to Manila cut; the Batan Islands, northernmost of the Philippines and Aparri, northernmost port on Luzon. Unconfirmed reports said that 10,000 of the 25,000 Japanese who inhabit the Davao region at the southern end of the Philippines were armed and ready for action, and it was feared that they would attempt to defend their holdings. It also was feared that the attacks on Davao might be a prelude to a more serious Japanese attempt to wrest control of the seaports leading southward to Borneo.

The Langley was attacked twice while lying in Malabag Bay, an undeveloped U. S. naval base. One other U. S. warship at the scene was reported to have fired on the planes, bringing one down. A shore radio station also was bombed.

Aside from the attack on the Philippines, Pan-American Airways reported that Wake Island had been "smashed" by Japanese planes, and the Japanese radio on Formosa said all big buildings on Guam were afire and that the island was ringed with Japanese warships. The same broadcast said the Japanese South China fleet had bombarded Hongkong Monday morning, destroying 12 of the 14 planes grounded at the Kowloon military airport. The Pan-American Hongkong Clipper was damaged while tied up nearby, an independent report said.

Destroyer Blown Up. The White House announced that in the attack on Hawaii an old American battleship had been captured; that an American destroyer was blown up and several other small ships seriously hit; that several army and navy air field hangars were destroyed; that a large number of American planes was knocked out; that 3,000 persons had been left dead or wounded. Against these losses—and the President himself spoke of "severe damage" to American naval and military forces in Hawaii—it was said, however, that a number of Japanese planes and submarines already had been smashed. Japanese Imperial Headquarters in Tokyo told a far more grim story, claiming the sinking of two U. S. battleships and a minesweeper, severe damage to four other American capital ships and four cruisers and the destruction of about 100 American planes in actions at Hawaii, the Philippines and Guam.

Naval Mastery Claimed. The official Japanese news agency alleged that "these magnificent early gains" had given Japan naval mastery in the Pacific, asserting that any United States force now available "would be regarded as utterly inadequate to accomplish any successful outcome in an encounter with the thus far-intact Japanese fleet." The American battleships claimed to have been destroyed were identified in Tokyo as the 31,800-ton West Virginia and the 29,000-ton Oklahoma. The Italians, however, circulated Japanese advices saying it was the Oklahoma and MELBOURNE, Australia, Dec. 8.—(AP)—The war in the Pacific swept into Australia's sphere today with Japanese attacks reported on the mandated island of Nauru and Ocean Island, administrative headquarters for Britain's Gilbert and Ellice islands colony, a rich source of phosphates.

VICHY, Unoccupied France, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Informed Vichy sources said today that the French government was remaining neutral in the war of the United States and Britain against Japan. Authoritative sources said they could neither confirm nor deny reports that Japanese troops which passed through Thailand came from French Indo-China bases ceded by France to Japan.

BOGOTA, Colombia, Dec. 8.—(AP)—A platoon of national police was assigned to duty at the United States embassy today after a noon-time crowd of Colombians demonstrated against Japan, shouting for Colombian solidarity and co-operation with the United States.

LONDON, Dec. 8.—(AP)—The exile Greek government today severed relations with Japan, instructed its minister in Tokyo to ask for his passport and cabled to Washington an expression of "complete solidarity" with the United States.

The 33,100-ton Pennsylvania that was lost. The Germans circled Japan's report that the Philippines had been heavily bombed; that oil tanks at U. S. naval headquarters in the Philippines had been blown up and that the populace was trying to flee Manila.

Thailand Capitulated. Thailand had capitulated to the Japanese, who were landing in force in support of the attempted invasion of Malaya just above Singapore. The Malayan fighting still was inconclusive. The British, having stated that the first Japanese invasion ships were in flight and that Japanese troops were being mopped up in the center of action around the town of Kota Bharu, subsequently described the situation as confused. They reported air attacks against Japanese transports making a second attempt at a landing. What had happened, it appeared, was this: The British Imperial troops had defeated the Japanese in a sea-borne invasion but were at the same time being hard pressed by Japanese coming in from Thailand. At least 15 Japanese transports were known to have been used, and of these were reported to have been set afire by British bombers. In Singapore itself, 63 persons were killed and 133 injured in Japanese bombing raids, but it was stated officially that military installations had not been damaged.

Borneo Landing Attempted. There were unconfirmed reports that the Japanese had tried unsuccessfully to land in British North Borneo. The great division among countries proceeded, with the Germans just saying just what action if any they would take in direct aid of Japan. China, the Dutch East Indies and the exiled Netherlands government were formally at war with the Japanese. The Latin American nations started falling into line with the United States. Police of the Canal Zone began internment not only Japanese but German and Italian nationals. President Roosevelt issued proclamations of stout faith to hearten all the anti-Axis world. "With confidence in our armed forces—with the unbending determination of our people—we will gain the inevitable triumph—so help us God," the President told congress, and he added: "Always we will remember the character of the onslaught against us."

Churchill declared that though the ordeal be hard and long "we have no reason to doubt the justice of our cause, that our strength and will-power will be sufficient to sustain it." "In the past," he went on, "we have had a light which flickered. In the present we have a light which flames. In the future there will be a light which shines over all the land and sea."

Nazi Pressure Charged. A White House statement declared that Germany "obviously" did all it could "to push Japan into the war" in a hope that it would end the lend-lease program. The statement declared that this program "is and will continue in full operation." The brief statement, issued without explanation, said: "Obviously Germany did all it could to push Japan into the war. It was the German hope that if the United States and Japan could

Vinson Regrets Declaration Left Axis Out

Sees Inevitable Involvement With Italy and Germany.

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.
Constitution Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—Predicting that the United States will inevitably be drawn into war with Germany and Italy, Representative Carl Vinson, Georgia chairman of the House Naval Affairs Committee, tonight expressed disappointment that congress today did not include all three Axis nations in the declaration of war against Japan.

"We should have extended the war declaration to all three of the aggressor nations," Vinson said. "Congress was ready to do so. Inevitably we are to be drawn into conflict with Germany and Italy and we might as well have finished up the job on the three Axis partners at one time."

Vinson, more responsible than any other individual in congress for the great naval construction program approved during the past eight years, warned against the public being too optimistic over initial engagements in the Pacific. A similar warning was made by Senator Walter F. George, of Georgia, who said we must be prepared for reverses at the start. "There is no doubt about the final outcome," Vinson declares, "but the country might as well realize that we have a long and difficult task ahead. All of us will have to knuckle down and make sacrifices we never dreamed of before."

"It is my conviction that a resolution to declare war against Germany and Italy along with Japan would have passed by the same overwhelming vote today. Congress was ready."

Atlanta Youths Among Early War Victims

Casualty List Strikes Home to Next of Kin Here.

The war came home to Atlantans yesterday and the city began to count its dead in the Japanese attack on Hawaii.

Thomas F. Byrd, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Williams, 200 Merritts avenue, N. E., yesterday became Atlanta's first known casualty.

The second local victim was William H. Manley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emory S. Manley, of Mirror Lake section, near Hapeville.

Atlantan Was 20. Byrd, 20, enlisted in September, 1940, in the Army Air Corps, and for the past several months has been stationed at Wheeler Field, Hawaii. He resided in Atlanta for several months prior to enlisting in the Air Corps.

His grandparents yesterday were informed of his death in a telegram from young Byrd's father, Thomas F. Byrd Sr., of Tampa, Fla.

"Notified by War Department Bert was killed in battle Sunday at Wheeler Field," was the brief message from the father.

Young Byrd had two sisters in Atlanta, Miss Evelyn Byrd, who is employed at St. Joseph's infirmary, while his other sister, Mrs. Charles Coan, Jr., resides at 228 Womack street, East Point.

Manley, 23, an aviation mechanic at Wheeler Field, Pearl Harbor, Honolulu, was "killed in action" Sunday, the War Department notified his parents yesterday.

Sister Collapses. His sister, Frances Manley, clerk in the toy department of a downtown department store, fainted and had to be treated at a local hospital when her father telephoned her the news of her brother's death.

Manley was a graduate of Franklin county high school, Carnesville. He also attended the Georgia Evening College in Atlanta, and was a member of the Speakers Club and the Tythenian Society, and was outstanding in athletics there. He also was a former carrier for The Constitution.

He had been in the Air Corps nine months.

FUND LEADER. ALBANY, Ga., Dec. 8.—D. W. ## County Chiefs 1750 Volunteer Firemen Asked In War Effort For Duty Here

$500 Voted To Purchase Jackets for Defense Corps Members.

Fulton county, through its board of commissioners, yesterday offered full support to national, state and military authorities in prosecution of the war against Japan, in a resolution which was sent to the President, Georgia's senators, Congressman Ramspeck, the Governor and the state commander of the Defense Corps.

A special meeting of the board was called at the behest of Commissioner E. L. Almand. Three of the five members were present. Besides Almand, they were Chairman Troy Chastain and Charlie Brown.

After unanimously passing the resolution, the board heard from its secretary, Major Frank Fling, a report on measures taken by the Fulton county Civilian Defense Corps, of which Fling is commander. Major Fling said that 50 members of his corps had been placed on guard at vital points in the county at 6 o'clock Sunday night and these were being relieved every six hours. He said he had received requests that guards be placed at the armories of both county and city schools.

The men now on guard, he said, are patrolling in summer uniforms. He asked the commissioners to vote $500 for the immediate purchase of 50 heavy jackets for the guards and to permit the use of a county truck for taking coffee to them.

Upon motion of Commissioner Almand, the board granted the request. The $500 will be deducted from the recent grant of $7,500 for the purchase of winter uniforms, it and when that becomes available. Otherwise the sum will be an outright contribution to defense.

The man who wants to fix your place up advertises in the "Business Service" classification in the Want Ads of The Constitution.

Full Aid Pledged. T. H. Stallworth, president of the International Association of Fire Fighters Local No. 134, conferred with Styron yesterday, pledging every facility of the organization and the loyalty of the men in 24-hour service if need be.

Members of our organization have met and have pledged their efforts and all the time necessary during the emergency even up to 24-hour service a day," Stallworth said. "We are in this thing to the bitter end, and will make our sacrifices along with everyone else."

Captain Ivey will be in charge of training, Styron said as he made it plain that those who affiliate with the firefighters auxiliary must not be connected with any other defense organization.

Have First Call. "We must have first call on members of the organization, because when an emergency arises, we must be prepared to meet it," he added. "We welcome firemen from other cities who wish to attend the school, which we will begin as soon as we have enough to start it."

The chief pointed out that the defense corps and other auxiliaries will have their hands full in attending to their duties if war comes to Atlanta, and the fire auxiliary is vitally necessary for the preservation of life and property. He cited the costly lesson England had to learn and said we are in a position to prepare now for an emergency.

"One trained man is worth 10 untrained ones, those who have been through bombing raids tell us," Styron said. "We must have trained men and women."

He said P. M. Ormand, 945 Hall street, N. W., and G. B. Hopkins, 257 Hendricks avenue, S. W., came by headquarters yesterday to volunteer.

Jap Mind Limited, Matt Perkins Says

Japan's treacherous attacks in the Pacific Sunday demonstrated anew its fatal quality of shortsighted keenness—a psychological fault which, in the present instance, has set it toward eventual national hara-kiri.

This was the view taken yesterday by Matt Perkins, Atlanta publisher, who operated a daily newspaper in Shanghai in the 1920's and saw the Nipponese encroachment at close range.

"They have a limited mind," he said. "It is sharp in its way, but lacks perspective. They think it's 'smart' to make a hit-and-run play. They're snickering to themselves today when they should be weeping for an act of folly which has united a powerful nation and will lead to their destruction."

"The Japs just can't help it. They're chiselers at heart and would rather be crooked than honest. To them as to Germany and Italy the old saw of 'Penny wise and pound foolish' applies perfectly."

200 Georgians Over 28 Must Stay in Army

Discharges Canceled by War Department Orders.

Nearly 200 Georgians who tomorrow would have been released from military service because they were over 28 have had their discharges canceled, according to War Department orders reaching Fort Jackson, S. C., yesterday.

Post officials said that under the original plan 1,749 men from the 30th Division, commanded by Major General Henry Russell, of Macon, and composed of Georgia, Carolina and Tennessee troops, were to have been discharged on December 10.

In addition, 1,746 men were to have been discharged by March 1 because military service imposed extraordinary hardship upon them, or because of dependency. These discharges were also canceled. The Georgians who were to have been discharged were members of the 121st Infantry Regiment, made up of National Guard companies from a number of south and middle Georgia towns, and of the 118th Field Artillery, of Savannah.

War Fails To Dim Enthusiasm Of Christmas Shoppers Here

The impact of war had no effect at all upon business in Atlanta yesterday.

A survey which included exclusive shops, department stores and 10-cent stores showed crowds thronging the counters, calmly going about their Christmas shopping.

They knew the war was on, and they sometimes mentioned it to the salesgirls, but mainly the conversations were built around the classic old "Will it wear?" "Will it wash?" "How does it look on me?" and "Do you think she'd like the green or blue better?"

Store managers reported business just about as had been expected, though one felt that he sensed a feeling of mild recklessness among the crowds.

One said he often heard the comment: "Well, I guess I might as well take it. Better have our fun this Christmas; next year the family may be scattered."

In one department store, though the crowds downstairs on the floors went about their buying as in the peaceful days of the past, the throng in the tea room stood at attention when the Star-Spangled Banner played at the end of the President's address. There was a definite feeling of tension in the air, and in the eyes of some there were tears.

Except for certain units designated for special duty Christmas furloughs will begin on Saturday as planned. Whether men will be permitted Christmas leave or not has been left up to the commanders of the individual units, authorities said.

Loiterers Near DeKalb Plants Will Be Seized

12 New Peace Officers Are Sworn in as Result of War.

DeKalb Police Chief J. T. Dailey yesterday ordered his officers to arrest any persons found "loitering" in the vicinity of the DeKalb county waterworks, manufacturing plants in the county, or the three radio stations.

He also ordered all aliens in the county, regardless of nationality, to register at the police station immediately.

Twelve new peace officers were sworn in yesterday as result of the declaration of war, but the chief declined to say where they would be assigned.

Jap Bank Accounts Seized in Swift Treasury Action

All Japanese bank accounts in the Sixth Federal Reserve district had been blocked and all Japanese business enterprises in the district either were seized or in process of seizure last night by order of William S. McLarin Jr., president of the Federal Reserve Bank, acting on instructions from the Treasury Department.

Seizure of the enterprises thus left the Federal Reserve Bank in charge of an Atlanta restaurant and photographic studio, a warehouse full of shrimp in New Orleans, two chrysanthemum nurseries in Mobile, a general store in Miami Beach, and an assortment of restaurants and novelty shops.

Seizures Still Continuing.

The seizures are still continuing, according to L. M. Clarke, vice president in charge of the action against Japanese nationals, as telegraphic reports poured in from member banks of the system, listing Japanese nationals holding accounts with them, or operating businesses in their area.

The treasury's action swiftly followed word of the Japanese bombing of Hawaii Sunday, and bank officials and a secretarial staff worked Sunday night sending telegraphic instructions to the 1,300 banks in the district.

The steps were taken two-fold. First the bank accounts of all Japanese nationals were blocked under orders which permitted no withdrawals whatsoever, not even for living expenses. No person was permitted access to a safe deposit box in whose contents a Japanese had an interest, and no remittances in any amounts could be made to Japan, including remit-ances to United States citizens resident in Japan.

Then the physical seizure of Japanese business enterprises took place, with representatives of the various branches of the Treasury Department instructed to act under orders of the Federal Reserve Bank. Police help was sanctioned, if found necessary.

Representatives of the bank were instructed to prevent any person from entering the premises of a seized business, and particularly to prevent any one having access to books, files, records or other property of the enterprise seized. No one was to be allowed to leave without permission of the bank's representatives.

No limit has yet been made public on the length of time the bank's custody of the seized enterprises will continue. There will be no change in the present orders, it was indicated, until Treasury investigators have had an opportunity to examine all records of the business which might have bearing on the status of the Japanese national affected.

Mercy, in at least two instances though, tempered justice in the sixth district. A Japanese florist was allowed to fill an order for chrysanthemums, and a Japanese restaurant in St. Petersburg was permitted to serve one last meal with food on hand when the bank took over.

No instructions have yet been received as to what provisions may be made about providing Japanese with funds for living expenses while the money block remains in effect.

Jap Business, Bank Property Seized by U. S.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—(AP)—All Japanese banks and businesses in the United States were seized today, from 700 to 1,000 Japanese nationals taken into custody, and the country's borders were sealed against the departure of any person of Japanese extraction.

Treasury Secretary Morgenthau disclosed that agents under his orders had taken custody of the banks and business enterprises. The agents, he said, caught Japanese trying to remove $40,000 worth of securities from one San Francisco concern affected by the seizure order.

He gave no estimate of the total property seized but it was known that Japanese assets in this country, including business, governmental and private, amounted to about $130,000,000.

Morgenthau warned that anyone hiding or destroying, or helping anybody else to hide or destroy, any of the Japanese property ordered seized would be risking ten years in prison.

FBI Continues Roundup.

Disclosure that 736 Japanese aliens—391 in Hawaii and 345 in the United States—were seized within a few hours after the first bombing of the Pacific was made by Attorney General Biddle who said that the Federal Bureau of Investigation was continuing its program. It was estimated that fewer than 1,000 Japanese, approximately one in a hundred within the U. S. jurisdiction, were marked for detention.

Those taken into custody were being turned over to the Immigration Service, which immediately established temporary detention stations, principally on the west coast. Some officials felt that later those held as "enemy aliens" would be turned over to the Army for safekeeping, as was done in the last war with German nationals.

24-Hour Basis.

As the department disclosed its drastic barriers at the border, approximately 2,000 immigration border patrolmen and special inspectors were ordered to constant duty. At the same time, all offices of United States attorneys were put on a 24-hour basis to provide instant availability for legal action.

United States attorneys were instructed to advise state and local authorities that all complaints against Japanese nationals were to be handled only through the FBI. Wendell Berge, assistant attorney general in charge of the criminal division, said in a telegram to the federal attorneys:

"If necessary to secure compliance with this procedure, you are authorized to appeal to the Governor of your state for his co-operation."

Berge expressed Biddle's "deep concern" over reports that "state and local authorities in many parts of the country have apprehended Japanese aliens last night and this morning."

The FBI is acting under a presidential proclamation calling for the arrest of Japanese aliens "who are dangerous to the peace and security of the country." The Army is handling the arrests in the Canal Zone, Hawaii and the Philippines, with co-operation from the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Meanwhile, over the country, and particularly in Washington, wartime safeguards against sabotage and espionage were put into effect. Some buildings which had been open to any and all persons during normal working hours were closed except to those carrying credentials. Armed guards were thrown about a few buildings, power plants, bridges and airports.

In the Panama Canal Zone and in Panama, police began rounding up German and Italian nationals.

3 Medical Units To Be Organized

First Lieutenant B. J. Dantone, administrative officer in the State Medical Defense Corps, yesterday announced immediate organization of three defense corps medical units in Greater Atlanta.

Applications for enlistment from men from 25 to 50 will be received in Dantone's office at 100½ Hunter street. No medical qualifications will be required of enlisted personnel. The units will serve in the defense corps as a patriotic duty without remuneration. There will be a downtown Atlanta unit, a Buckhead unit and an East Point-College Park unit.

Victory Drive To Cost U. S. 150 Billions

Everything Subordinate To Defeat of Enemy, Says SPAB.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—(AP)—The Supply Priorities and Allocations Board, top defense agency, today declared the country was engaged in an "all-out victory program" and other defense officials said this called for a $150,000,000,000 outlay.

Such an expenditure would more than double the current armament program for which appropriations and authorizations are nearing $70,000,000,000.

"From this moment we are engaged in a victory program," said a SPAB announcement, issued following a special session in the office of Vice President Wallace.

Victory Only Aim.

"We can talk and act no longer in terms of a defense program," Victory is our one and only objective and everything else is subordinate to it."

The SPAB announcement itself mentioned no figures for the cost of the victory program.

It was disclosed that the board had been summoned to the White House for a conference with President Roosevelt tomorrow.

"From now on, every action by this board and by the related civilian agencies of the government must be keyed to one goal—complete victory in this war which has been thrust upon us," SPAB said.

Step Up Production.

"... It is clear that a vastly expanded national effort is imperative. Production schedules for all manner of military items must be stepped up at once."

"Every activity of our national life and our civilian economy must be immediately adjusted to that change. To attain victory we aim at the greatest production which is physically possible; we call for the greatest national effort that can possibly be made."

The SPAB announcement was taken by the capital as the first avowal by the board of sponsorship for the much-discussed "victory program," calling for the doubling of production in virtually all types of weapons and armaments, including planes, tanks and guns.

Defense sources have revealed that the "program" originated as a survey requested by SPAB in November of the estimated advance needs of the Army, Navy, lend-lease agency, and the Maritime Commission. Originally it was contemplated as a two-year program, with production needs forecast to the fall of 1943.

Additional 15 Per Cent Tax Is Suggested

Japanese War Means Higher Levies, Morgenthau Says.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau declared today's declaration of war against Japan means "even greater expenditures for defense and a corresponding increase in taxes."

The secretary, who had been negotiating with congressional leaders the past few weeks on new tax proposals, said at a press conference that the need had increased and he expected that "people will be more willing to pay these taxes and it will be easier for the treasury to get them from the congress."

He declined, however, to give any details of his tax recommendations. He has been reported to favor an additional 15 per cent tax on individual incomes.

Temporary Loss Of Superiority by U. S. Fleet Seen

By EDWARD E. BOMAR.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—(AP)—The stark possibility that the United States fleet may have lost temporarily its margin of superiority in the Pacific was suggested today by an official acknowledgment that the damage from the Japanese onslaught on Hawaii "appears more serious than at first believed."

The White House reported one old battleship had capsized at Pearl Harbor and several other ships were damaged seriously.

"One destroyer was blown up," it said, and "several other small ships were seriously hurt." It also announced a large number of planes was put out of commission.

It was the heaviest loss in the Navy's history. The only comparable blow which has been struck in the European war is the one the British delivered in their onslaught on the Italian fleet at Taranto last year.

Japanese sources claimed that two battleships and a mine-sweeper were sunk, and four other American capital ships and four cruisers damaged severely.

The gravity of the general situation was emphasized by President Roosevelt in his message to Congress, asking a war declaration.

The President said, "There is no blinking the fact that our people, our territory and our interests are in grave danger."

He followed this, however, with a reassuring statement which reflected the manifest attitude of Army and Navy leaders:

"With confidence in our armed forces, with the unbounding determination of our people, we will gain the inevitable triumph, so help us God."

What actual further peril the damaged American fleet faces clearly depends on whether the Japanese are prepared to follow the audacious air raid with an equally daring fleet movement in force into the eastern Pacific.

Credited with an overall margin of one-third or more over the Japanese, the United States fleet has divided its strength in undivided proportion between the Pacific and the Atlantic.

Were the main Pacific force to retire until the arrival of reinforcements from the Atlantic, Hawaii and Pearl Harbor base would be safeguarded by the Army ground and air forces, heavily bolstered in recent years.

War Risk Rate On Cargo Craft Skyrocketed

Premium on Hawaiian Shipments Raised From 5 Cents to $4.

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—(AP)—American Marine Insurance Underwriters skyrocketed war risk rates on United States ship cargoes today, boosting the premium to and from the Hawaiian Islands to $4 per $100 valuation from five cents.

With commitments on cargoes worth many millions of dollars afloat in and near the war zone, some of it possibly sunk already, observers said the insurance men were unusually calm as they set about writing new schedules today.

Cargoes sent on American flag vessels, formerly favored, were placed in the belligerent classification at the same rates as those charged on British ship cargoes.

Along the Atlantic coast of the Western Hemisphere war risk rates will reach a top of 75 cents per $100, only slightly higher than before the United States entered the war.

Pacific shipments along the North American coast were set at 1-2 per cent and on that ocean between North and South America at 1 per cent.

Shipments between the Atlantic and Pacific coasts of North and South America were covered at $1 per $100.

Far Eastern cargoes via the Cape of Good Hope were raised to 5 per cent, to and from Australia via the Cape to 4 per cent, and to and from the East and Far East, including Australia, by way of Panama or across the Pacific to 5 per cent.

Active in Declaring Of 2 World Wars

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—(AP)—The man who delivered the declaration of war against Japan to the White House today for President Roosevelt's signature was the same man who typed the declaration of war against Germany in 1917.

Garrett Whiteside, now clerk of the committee on enrolled bills of the senate, was employed in the office of the house bill clerk in 1917. He said the chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee and the British ambassador stepped across the hall from the committee room and asked him if he could use a typewriter.

They then dictated, he said, the original draft of the 1917 war declaration.

Herbert Hoover Calls For Unity, U. S. Victory

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover issued the following statement tonight regarding the war situation: "American soil has been treacherously attacked by Japan. We must fight with everything we have. I have opposed the foreign policies of our government. I have believed alternative policies would have been better. But those are matters to be threshed out by history."

"Today there is just one job before the American people. We must defeat this invasion by Japan and we must fight it in any place that will defeat it. Upon this job we must have and will have unity in America. We must have and will have support for the President of the United States in this war. We will have victory."

Peace Fund Trustees Offer Facilities to U. S.

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—(AP)—The trustees of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace offered the United States government today full use of its secretary's office and its division of international law "for dealing with the pressure of international business incident to the war."

At their semi-annual meeting, the trustees called Japan's assault on United States territory "a betrayal of one of the most fundamental principles of international law" and expressed "appreciation of the patient efforts of our government" in seeking a formula to maintain peace. The group announced it had suspended work in Europe and Asia because of European war conditions.

Women Rush To Offer Help In War Work

Voluntary Service Headquarters Flooded With Applicants.

If Uncle Sam wanted women for the front line trenches he could have organized a few regiments in Atlanta yesterday.

Hundreds of women of all ages, gray-haired grandmothers, and young high school girls, swarmed into the American Woman's Voluntary service headquarters at 16 Auburn avenue, yesterday to offer themselves for any kind of war-time service they could perform.

"Give me something to do," they demanded, "anything that needs doing."

And workers in the office, dazed but elated by the influx of volunteers, hastily registered them, assigned scores to the American Red Cross and held others in readiness for such war-time work as will be demanded of them.

Classes in first aid were very popular and whole sororities of high school and college girls signed up for duty.

Meanwhile, workers went ahead with plans for their formal opening of the headquarters today. Open house will be held from 4 to 6 p. m. and all members and prospective members of the American Woman's Voluntary Service and their husbands and beaux are invited to attend.

Mrs. Trammell Scott is chairman of the Atlanta unit. Mrs. Clifford Ragsdale is chairman of the house-warming. The mayor and defense officials will be special guests.

Nazis Abandon Hope of Seizing Moscow Before Next Year

Major Moves Are Halted by Terrific Cold

Berlin Says Attention Now Focused on War in Orient.

BERLIN, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Winter has stopped the Germans short of Moscow and the capture of the Soviet capital is not expected this year, a military spokesman declared tonight.

It seemed likely from the spokesman's statement that until spring there could be no further major German offensive except along the extreme southern front.

Interest in Pacific.

This would reduce the Russian campaign to secondary interest for the Germans for the first time, and attention focused instead on Japan's war with the United States in the Pacific.

DNB asserted that nearly 10,000,000 Russian troops had "been put out of action" since Germany invaded Russia last June.

Explaining a statement by the high command that the conduct of the war in Russia "now is dictated by the setting in of winter," the spokesman said:

"The cold is so terrific that even the oil freezes in motorized vehicles. Soldiers and officers trying to take cover simply freeze to the ground."

"Fighting under these conditions is practically impossible. This does not mean, however, that the front will become stagnant or fixed."

"There will be local operations, local air attacks and local straightening out of our front in such a manner as either to shorten it advantageously or, as in the space between Tanagerog and Rostov, to fix the front line so as to be most advantageous to us."

"The Russians have reported that their offensive past Rostov has driven the Germans west of Tanagerog."

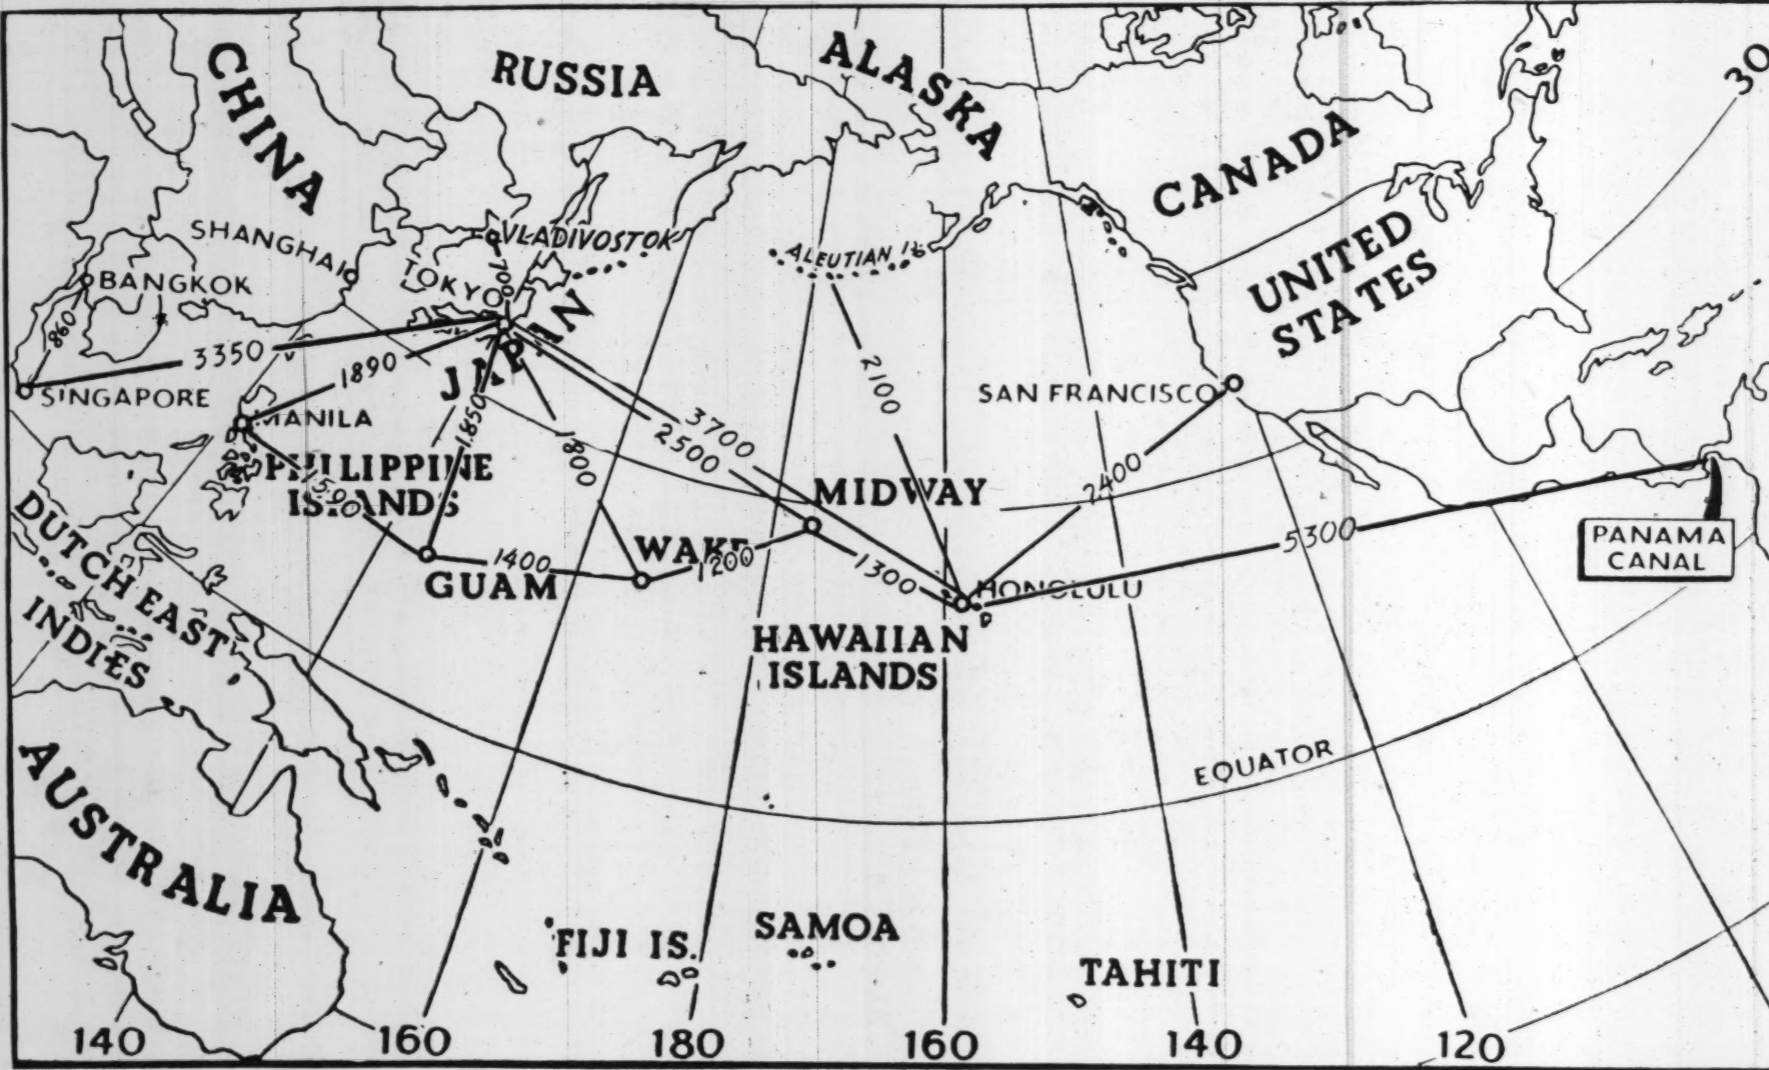

Military sources said a Soviet attempt to land forces on the west coast of the Crimea failed utterly, but gave no exact information where the attempt was made.

The situation in North Africa still was hazy to the German public. The high command said only that heavy fighting continued.

RUSSIANS CONTINUE PURSUIT OF NAZIS

MOSCOW, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Tank-led Red armies have thrown the Germans out of numerous additional villages on both ends of the Moscow front, and pursuit of the backtracking Nazis continues, the Moscow radio announced tonight in dispatches from the front.

The fighting took place in temperatures ranging down to 17 degrees below zero, Fahrenheit, and

AMERICA'S VAST BATTLEFRONT—Russia's 2,000-mile battle line against the Nazis fades into insignificance when compared with the immense stretches of the Pacific the United States must defend in its war with the Japanese.

News bulletins skip quickly from reports of new bombing and casualties in the Philippines to Jap seizure of Guam and Wake, attacks on Hawaii, air raids on Singapore and Japanese thrusts into Malay and Siam. But the approximate distance shown on this map indicate the magnitude of the conflict. Somewhere in this space the U. S. fleet no doubt is in action. President Roosevelt is expected to clarify the situation in a broadcast at 10 o'clock tonight.

Rommel Force Beaten, Flees To Westward

Fast British Columns Destroy Third of Nazi Outfit.

CAIRO, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Small, fast armored British columns were said by a spokesman today to have destroyed a third of the German tanks engaged in battle since Saturday between Tobruk and El Gobi.

The Germans finally pulled their best fighters westward to end the battle, a British spokesman said. The German general, Edwin Rommel, entered the fight with 30 tanks and 500 motor vehicles, the spokesman said.

Other Axis forces were said to remain caught in pockets along the frontier line south of Halfaya (Helfaya) Pass, completely cut off from Rommel's main force.

The outcome of the battle was said to have left the British in control of much of the territory around Tobruk and the whole desert east to the Egyptian border.

O. B. X. Cancels Dance, Gives $400 for Red Cross War Work

To 88 Washington Seminary and North Fulton girls, the war is a very real thing, even though it's thousands of miles from home.

Members of O. B. X., one of the "big four" sororities, met yesterday at the home of the president, Florence Cantwell, at 119 Seventh street, N. E., and decided to make what possibly to them was a supreme sacrifice—they called off their formal planned for December 19 and gave the $400 they had raised to the Red Cross.

and completion of enlistments within three days.

Volunteer Firemen Sought.

Marvin Cox, an official of the office, as well as Farrell, said last night responses were highly satisfactory. In Atlanta plans immediately were launched for a force of 1,750 volunteer firemen to be trained by Captain J. L. Ivey, of Engine Company No. 7, a graduate of the Edgewood Arsenal school. The program general calls for a force from three to five times the size of peace-time organizations.

Airplane warning organization, for 1,100 posts, each served by a squad of from five to 20 volunteers, was being perfected by Colonel Richard C. Job and Captain J. C. Goode, of the State Council of National Defense. Altogether 800 posts had been organized through efforts of the State Defense Corps, Captain Goode said.

Women volunteers besieged offices of the Red Cross, American Woman's Voluntary Service and other service groups for enrollment for training. Among women specialists were the group trained to operate the filter center at Savannah. They were ordered to be on the alert.

Pledges of support were given in resolutions adopted by the county commissioners and grand jury, while the Governor sent President Roosevelt a long personal telegram offering all of Georgia's resources.

Guards at Airport.

Guards of soldiers and police were established at the Atlanta municipal airport, but Jack Gray, general manager, emphasized that civil flying operations were continuing unabated. He suggested all passengers co-operate by purchasing tickets at downtown offices of the air lines.

Fort Benning resumed checking all vehicles entering the reservation, including automobiles on the Columbus-Fort Benning highway, where traffic averages 15,000 vehicles daily. This caused a delay of more than an hour.

It was clear from the large volume of inquiries telephoned to The Constitution that many Atlanta families had members serving in or near the Pacific centers of hostilities. Deep anxiety was expressed by feminine inquirers.

The office of Lawrence Camp, United States district attorney, was placed on a 24-hour basis. Theaters were installing teletypes

SCOUT LEADERS.

ALBANY, Ga., Dec. 8.—Cheehaw Council, serving Boy Scout organizations in southwest Georgia, is leading all councils in the southeast for percentage of gain in membership this year, according to information received at council headquarters here by W. Y. Compton, executive. Mr. Compton is hopeful that Cheehaw can win the trophy ordered by N. A. Barron, zone officer of Sears, Roebuck & Company.

Full Aid Pledged By Woman's Club

The Atlanta Woman's Club yesterday unanimously dedicated its full support and all its energies to the American war effort in a resolution which was sent to the President, the two Senators from Georgia and to Congressman Robert Ramspeck. The resolution, signed by Mrs. Howard Pattillo, president of the club, was as follows:

"The Atlanta Woman's Club, in session on this crucial day in the life of our nation, hereby goes on record as pledging renewed dedication of all the facilities of the club and the abilities of its members to the emergency into which our country has been plunged."

"We extend to our President and all the agencies of the government our prayers, our support and our energies, to the end that this united nation speedily may defend and preserve our democracy and our very life which have been attacked."

Civilian Defense Will Open Office

Charles J. Currie, chairman of the Greater Atlanta Defense Council, announced yesterday that the Civilian Defense Volunteer Office, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Green Warren, will open to register defense volunteers next Monday at 246 Peachtree street, N. W. A staff of trained persons will be available to register those who are willing to volunteer for a variety of local defense activities which have to do with civilian defense.

People anxious to help may temporarily register to be auxiliary firefighters with Fire Chief Styron, 166 1-2 Alabama street, S. W., and those desiring to do volunteer police duty with Chief Hornsby, 175 Decatur street, S. E. This temporary registration, said Mrs. Warren, is merely for those who desire to register between now and next Monday.

Army's Newest, Most Powerful Tank Received

60-Ton Monster Carries Five Guns, Operates at High Speed.

EDDYSTONE, Pa., Dec. 8.—(AP)—America's newest and most powerful tank, a 60-ton monster of the M-1 type, was turned over to the United States Army today by the Baldwin Locomotive Works.

Accepting the tank, Brigadier General G. M. Barnes, assistant chief of industrial service for the Army, said:

"This great fighting vehicle exceeds all others in its military characteristics. It represents but one of the many new and previously unheard of weapons of modern warfare which are being added day by day to the military equipment of our Army."

The tank is welded, with heavy armored skirts protecting its running wheels. It operates at high speed on the metal treads and carries five guns—three machine-guns, one small and one heavy cannon.

WELCOME, VERMONT.

ALBANY, Ga., Dec. 8.—(AP)—Private Joseph A. Wade, of Island Pond, Vt., noted that his state was omitted from a list of those represented by soldiers at Turner Field. He wrote a correction:

"Vermont is represented in the 95th School Squadron to the best of my humble ability."

Jewish Congress Pledges F.D.R. Aid

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Dr. Stephen S. Wise, president of the American Jewish Congress, today telegraphed President Roosevelt that the congress, representing hundreds of thousands of American Jews, "wishes to stand at your side among the forces that will safeguard our country and make it triumphant for freedom and justice for those who would be free."

"HAIL TO THE CHIEF"—Cheers yesterday greeted President Roosevelt as he stopped on Capitol steps after requesting congress to declare war upon the Japanese Empire. "We will gain the inevitable triumph—so help us God," he declared. Congress a few minutes later passed the joint war resolution, which was signed by the President later in the afternoon.

Text of President Roosevelt's War Message to the Congress

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—(P)—The text of President Roosevelt's war message to congress follows:

Yesterday, December 7, 1941—a date which will live in infamy—the United States of America was suddenly and deliberately attacked by naval and air forces of the Empire of Japan.

The United States was at peace with that nation and, at the solicitation of Japan, was still in conversation with its government and its Emperor looking toward the maintenance of peace in the Pacific.

Indeed, one hour after Japanese air squadrons had commenced bombing in Oahu, the Japanese Ambassador to the United States and his colleague delivered to the Secretary of State a formal reply to a recent American message. While this reply stated that it seemed useless to continue the existing diplomatic negotiations, it contained no threat or hint of war or armed attack.

It will be recorded that the distance of Hawaii from Japan makes it obvious that the attack was deliberately planned many days or even weeks ago. During the intervening time, the Japanese government has deliberately sought to deceive the United States by false statements and expressions of hope for continued peace.

The attack yesterday on the Hawaiian Islands has caused severe damage to American naval and military forces. Very many American lives have been lost. In addition, American ships have been reported torpedoed on the high seas between San Francisco and Honolulu.

Yesterday the Japanese government also launched an attack against Malaya. Last night Japanese forces attacked Hongkong.

F. D. R. To Talk On Japanese Attack Tonight

All Networks To Broadcast Address on Details of Conflict.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—(P)—President Roosevelt will make a radio address to the nation tomorrow night at 10 o'clock (EST), at which time the White House said he would make a "more complete documentation" of the Japanese attack than has yet been possible.

Presidential Secretary Stephen Early announced that the chief executive would speak for half an hour and that the address would be carried by all net works.

Mr. Roosevelt began dictating the speech tonight in his White House study.

During the day Early said, no additional developments had been reported to the White House which were of sufficient news interest to add to a statement he had released this morning on damage and casualties in Hawaii and American retaliation against Japanese forces.

All-American Crowd Grets Chief Executive

Capitol Throng, Unworried by War, Cheers for Roosevelt.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—(P)—Just ordinary blue-coated cops swinging night sticks—no troops or guns or bayonets—guarded the plaza of America's capitol today when the President went there to deliver his war message to congress.

And the hundreds and hundreds of people who crowded into the plaza and the wintry lawns round about seeking some identification, however remote, with the historic moment in their nation's destiny were Americans too—no question about that.

They weren't worried or frightened about fighting the Japanese. In fact they didn't even talk about the stirring event they came to attend as best they could out on the chilly capitol grounds—except to debate from what side the President probably would drive up and where they could see him best.

Two matrons checked over their Christmas shopping lists as they tapped their feet in the cold. A bevy of lipstick school girls, bareheaded and bareheaded, discussed whether their absence from class would be excused. A little boy bawled for his mother until she found him again in the crush. Older lads climbed into the trees to see over the heads of their elders.

It was a smaller crowd than gathered on that same plaza just about one year ago to see President Roosevelt inaugurated for his third term, but it was as gay and lighthearted.

Many in the throng had portable radios and groups clustered around each one. Stranger with his arm about stranger's shoulder, to hear about the proceedings that were so near and yet so far.

Some of the bystanders had been on hand since early in the morning. When the President's motorcade finally swept up to the door of the house chamber at 10 minutes past noon it was difficult to discern in which of the cars he was riding and to identify him for certain from behind the ropes where the spectators were kept at a distance.

But they knew it was he, and the full-throated cheer he got was American, too.

Red Cross Flag Given To Valdosta Air Base

WAYCROSS, Ga., Dec. 8.—The large official Red Cross flag was presented to the Army headquarters at Moody field, Valdosta air base, Saturday by William C. Culpepper, Laurens county Red Cross chairman. The flag bore the inscription "100 per cent," signifying that Moody field had crossed the 100 per cent mark in the drive just completed for membership.

The flag was officially received by Lieutenant Colonel Frederick C. Nelson, commandant of Moody field.

As commander-in-chief of the Army and Navy, I have directed that all measures be taken for our defense.

Always will we remember the character of the onslaught against us.

No matter how long it may take us to overcome this premeditated invasion, the American people in their righteous might will win through to absolute victory.

I believe I interpret the will of the Congress and of the people when I assert that we will not only defend ourselves to the uttermost but will make very certain that this form of treachery shall never endanger us again.

Hostilities exist. There is no blinking at the fact that our people, our territory and our interests are in grave danger.

With confidence in our armed forces—with the unbounding determination of our people—we will gain the inevitable triumph—so help us God.

I ask that the Congress declare that, since the unprovoked and dastardly attack by Japan on Sunday, December 7th, a state of war has existed between the United States and the Japanese empire.

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT.
The White House,
December 8, 1941.

Men Losing Leave Asked To Give Up Air Travel

Officials of transportation agencies, especially airlines, urged yesterday that soldiers or officers who know that their prospective holiday leaves will be cancelled should relinquish seat reservations at once.

"The demand for travel space is enormous, and much of it is essential to national defense," James H. Cobb, Jr., of Delta Air Lines, pointed out. "Every seat will be needed. We all have issued many reservations to service men. It will help if all non-travelers will announce change of plans."

END OF THE CHAMBLEE HIGH SCHOOL.—Smoke blackened walls are all that was left of the Chamblee High school a few hours after fire broke out early last night in the school's laboratory, causing a property loss of more than $75,000. This picture was made after the roof and the flooring had caved in and all hope for the building had been abandoned. In the extreme right-hand corner are two of the high school students apparently trying to hasten the end of the building by tossing bricks through a window.

Chamblee School Building Destroyed In $75,000 Fire

Fire, apparently originating in the laboratory of the Chamblee High school shortly after 6 o'clock last night, completely destroyed the building and a large portion of the school equipment, with an estimated loss of approximately $75,000.

The building, a two-story brick structure, located on the Dunwoody road, soon became a mass of flames after nearby residents had discovered a blaze over the roof of the building housing the gymnasium and laboratory. This building joined the rear of the main structure.

While firemen from the Lawson Veterans hospital and the DeKalb county owned Druid Hills fire department pooled their hose to run a line from the nearest water-plug, approximately half a mile distant, Chamblee citizens entered the building and removed considerable school equipment. In trying to rescue text books and other school valuables, M. E. Smith, for the past 18 years principal of the school, collapsed, and had to be taken to his home nearby. A physician reported he was overcome by smoke.

Twenty-one class rooms were in the main building, and more than 500 students were enrolled in the school. Although severely handicapped by low water pressure, firemen sprayed streams of water onto a shop building immediately in the rear of the main school structure, and on a cottage housing the home economics department, which were saved.

Smith later returned to the school yard to find smoking embers and blackened walls where the school had been. In addition to the high school, the building also housed Chamblee grammar school students. Smith said he would have the grammar school students placed in other nearby schools within the next few days, but he did not know what arrangements could be made for the high school students.

The blaze, visible for nearly two miles, brought thousands of spectators who aided in beating out grass fires which sprang up in the school yard.

Numerous Atlantans Have Relatives in Pacific War Area

Thousands of Atlantans with relatives and close friends on duty in the war areas yesterday were deeply interested in the war activities in the Western Pacific.

Local Army offices and newspapers were swamped with anxious relatives calling for information about the welfare of their loved ones.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights
Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 million of tiny tubes which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work in the daytime, many people have to get up at night. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.
Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 million of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Wild Reports Speed Defense Of West Coast

Large Areas Blacked Out and Ordered on the Alert.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 8.—(AP) The entire west coast marshaled its forces of war today—proudly, grimly and with the utmost speed—in the face of day-long reports of new dangers off its shores. Thousands flocked to volunteer for civilian defense; Army and Navy enlistments boomed to new records; bridges, tunnels, utilities, vital defense centers and even schools went under heavy guard. News of the fast-developing hostilities in the Pacific was followed almost immediately by declarations of emergency, the closing of school in Oakland across San Francisco Bay, and emergency sessions of city and council civilian defense councils in many sections.

Orders were prepared for instant blackouts; firemen and policemen went on long-hour duty, and the general round-ups of suspected Japanese aliens went on apace.

Military bases, particularly those in Alaska, were far northward swing of invading craft might bring new dangers, were settled into a war-time alert status.

Army, Navy Busy.
Army and Navy headquarters all up and down the coast were beehives of activity, the nature of which for good reason was not for public eyes, and most official comment came in the cryptic form of "We're ready."

The day brought many wild reports—one that Los Angeles was under air attack, another that Japanese planes were seven minutes off the Golden Gate.

The California statehouse dome at Sacramento was ordered blacked out; additional state highway patrolmen summoned, and Governor Culbert L. Olson was swarmed with messages offering aid.

Editors of several Japanese newspapers on the west coast sent word they wholeheartedly opposed "militaristic Japan."

Many Japanese settlements in all three coast states were under guard to prevent violence. In Tacoma, stones were thrown through Japanese grocery store windows.

Several hundred Japanese were detained, 50 in San Francisco.

In San Francisco, already on an emergency basis, representatives of labor and employers met to iron out current strikes; the Red Cross distributed rescue equipment and called for nurses to man field dressing stations and emergency hospitals.

24-Hour Basis.
Police teletypes were placed on a 24-hour basis.

The department of natural resources in California ordered all forest lookout stations manned—despite recent heavy rains.

Women led the parade to volunteer for civilian defense work in many areas.

Many air raid observation stations were manned. On Puget Sound, guards fired into the water ahead of ferry boats to detonate any mines that might be in the water.

Headquarters of the Fourth Army, charged with protecting a huge slice of Western United States, said every prearranged emergency precaution was in full operation "from Dutch Harbor to the Mexican border."

The great Boulder Dam, on the Colorado River between Nevada and Arizona, was under heavy guard and nightly blackouts were ordered. U. S. Highway 93, which crosses it, was closed to automobile traffic.

Air Raid Signal.
This city, which doesn't have an air raid siren system, hit on an idea for a substitute.

In event of air attack, all fire engines will be backed out of their stations and their combined sirens will scream a warning.

All Spokane radio stations went off the air tonight at 5 o'clock and at stations KHQ-KGA it was announced they would be off "until further orders."

It was said the silence was at the order of the Signal Corps of the Second Airforce headquarters and applied to all stations in the Northwest, west of Boise, Idaho.

Brigadier General Carlyle Wash ordered a blackout from the Canadian line to Roseburg, Ore., at 11 o'clock tonight.

Complete blackout of the Long Beach harbor area, including San Pedro, Wilmington and a major part of Long Beach, was ordered by Captain Richard B. Coffman, 11th Naval District assistant commandant.

LAGUARDIA ISSUES AIR RAID INSTRUCTIONS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—(AP)—F. H. LaGuardia, director of the Office of Civilian Defense, is issuing a set of six instructions for the guidance of civilians in areas subject to possible aerial bombing. The first set of rules follows and the second will be published tomorrow:

1. Keep cool.
Above all, keep cool. Don't lose your head.

Do not crowd the streets; avoid chaos, prevent disorder and havoc. You can fool the enemy. It is easy. If planes come over, stay where you are. Don't phone unnecessarily. Do not run—do not scream. The chance you will be hit is small. It is part of the risk we must take to win this war.

Until an alarm, go about your usual business and recreation in the ordinary way.

Think twice before you do anything. Don't believe rumors—spreading false rumors is part of

Municipal Officials Changed at Wrightsville

Special to THE CONSTITUTION.

WRIGHTSVILLE, Ga., Dec. 6.—Several changes in municipal officials, including city clerk and chief of police, have been made by the new administration here.

The administration is composed of Mayor W. F. Outlaw, who took office for a second term, and a slate of three councilmen replacing the old set-up of five. They are Frey H. Davis, L. L. Lovett and Jack Robinson.

D. T. Brinson was named city clerk to succeed R. T. Moye, and F. G. Mayo became head of the police department replacing H. A. Garrard.

Other changes included appointment of Mason Davis, fire chief, succeeding Will Hall, and Millard McAfee to head of street department.

H. T. Hicks was renamed city attorney, and Gordon Carter night policeman. W. J. Crawford was appointed head of the waterworks, a new position.

the enemy's technique. Don't let him take you in.

Know your air raid warning. In general, it is short blasts or rising and falling pitch, or whistles or horns. The all clear is a steady tone for two minutes. Watch The Constitution for description of the local signal. (This is subject to change.)

Await official information before taking any action. When the air raid warden comes to your home, do what he tells you. He is for protection. He is your friend. He will help you do your part to whip the enemy.

We can do it. We will do it. If we stay calm and cool and strong and alert.

$100 Per Ton For Peanuts Urged by Pace

Congressman Asks Wickard To Set That Sum as Minimum Price.

CAMILLA, Ga., Dec. 8.—(AP)—Congressman Stephen Pace, of the third district, sought a $100-per-ton minimum price for peanuts today in a conference with Secretary of Agriculture Wickard at Washington.

"I hope I may then convince him (Wickard) that the producers are entitled to receive assurance of a high price for oil peanuts," Manager Roy E. Parrish, of the Georgia-Florida-Alabama Peanut Association, said he was informed by Pace.

Parrish also said he was assured by the congressman that no action had been taken on placing a minimum on peanuts for the oil trade. Parrish expressed surprise at reports he said were published in Washington, indicating a floor price of $68 a ton for Spanish and $82 for the runner peanuts.

Pace telegraphed that Wickard had ordered a resurvey and restudy of the whole matter. The Agriculture Department recently called upon growers to boost peanut production by 72 per cent to alleviate a possible shortage of oil in the defense program.

To give employment and to get employment. . . A Want Ad in The Constitution is equally effective in both cases.

In the evening, the Valdosta Ministerial Association conducted a joint service, all churches joining in extending a hearty welcome to the Rev. Elburn Moore, recently installed minister of the First Christian church. The Rev. L. A. Harrell, of the First Methodist church, gave the welcome sermon and all ministers of other churches took part in the program.

LAGRANGE SPEAKER.

LAGRANGE, Ga., Dec. 8.—Dr. Scott Patterson, recently returned missionary from Nigeria, Africa, native of Atlanta, will be guest speaker Wednesday evening at the First Baptist church, following a Fellowship supper scheduled for the members and friends of the church, Dr. Willis E. Howard announces.

Oglethorpe Student From Hawaii Says Islands Expected War

People in Hawaii began planting their own gardens a month ago in anticipation of being cut off from the United States, according to Miss Jane Calmes, an Oglethorpe University student from Hawaii.

Miss Calmes learned this through a recent letter from her father, Marquis Calmes, former Atlantan who lives in the islands. She says the Japanese "have taken a bigger bite than they can chew," because the islands have been preparing for attack since the outbreak of war in Europe. During the last two years there have been practice blackouts, the most recent ones complete with fake accidents to be treated by students at the American Red Cross first aid instruction centers. Relatively more men have been drafted in Hawaii than here, many of them Japanese.

The islands' biggest need, Miss Calmes believes, is a strong line of communications with the United States. The island can provide its own meat and dairy products but must depend on the mainland for grain and staple foods, and coal and gasoline for fuel. If traffic with the continent is cut off for long the islands will be ruined, she fears, because the sugar and pineapple industries are the "bread and butter" of Hawaii.

Although nearly three-fourths of the population is of Japanese origin, Miss Calmes feels that a Japanese uprising is unlikely unless there is a powerful Japanese fifth column. She doubts that one exists because of the great strength of the Federal Bureau of Investigation on the islands.

Miss Calmes' home is in the harbor town of Kahului on the island of Maui, which is 30 miles by air from the bombarded island of Oahu. Although there is no military post at Kahului, the harbor is an Army reservation which may be taken over in wartime. Miss Calmes is a freshman at Oglethorpe, the first daughter of an alumnus of the young university to attend the school. She plans to finish in three years, then go to Johns Hopkins' School of Nursing. Her grandmother, Mrs. Belle M. Calmes, lives at 736 Lawton street, S. W., Atlanta.

WAGE INCREASE.
SAVANNAH, Ga., Dec. 8.—(AP)—Chatham county employees receiving $125 or less monthly will get wage increases of about 10 per cent, effective January 1. Savannah also is considering salary boosts for city employees.

ATLANTA, GA., DECEMBER 9, 1941.

United Americans

"It means a united people."

President Roosevelt, in his historic message of yesterday to the congress, declared that December 7, 1941, is a date which will "go down into infamy."

It is more than that. It is a date which marks, for all time, the end of debate, the end of dispute, the end of disunity among the American people in regard to the now world-wide war. It is a date which will go down as the date of unity for Americans.

No more are there isolationists, appeasers, anti-Rooseveltians. No more are there class groups; neither capital, management nor organized labor stands any more as separate, selfish groups; all are Americans, Americans only, standing shoulder to shoulder to accomplish the heavy task which has been laid upon us.

Every man, woman, boy and girl in America is today enlisted to fight this war with the treacherous Japanese to a finish. Victory is assured, but it must be more than mere victory. Japan must be placed in such condition that forevermore this nation shall be able to rest confident the treachery of Sunday can never be repeated.

The President's message will go into the archives of American history, together with that message of similar tenor delivered by President Wilson more than 24 years ago, as among the most dramatic documents ever penned in this country. It was short, it was delivered in less than 10 minutes. It briefly summarized the acts of Japan, revealed her utter perfidy and spoke in utmost confidence of our ability to overcome her.

The President then asked, formally, for congressional resolution recognizing the state of war that exists, and that was all.

The reception accorded that message was unexampled. House members, senators, officials and crowded public galleries alike cheered to the final capacity of their lungs.

Those cheers, coming over the radio to the ears of 100 million American citizens were the final acknowledgement of the thing that became so clear, even as the first reports of attack were coming in on Sunday—at last this is a united nation, united to fight this thing through to the end that must, with God's help, come.

Because of the unscrupulous secrecy of that first attack, we have suffered severely at the onset of this new war. Deaths in Hawaii run into the thousands. Our ships have been sunk, our planes destroyed.

Nevertheless Japan is today in such hopeless position that she can only fight in desperation, like a cornered rat. The best she can hope is to postpone the inevitable day of surrender and humiliation. Avert it she cannot.

Japan is surrounded with a ring of foes. Soon the guns of her enemies shall blast her fighting ships to the bottom, the planes of her foes shall rain death and destruction indiscriminately upon her frightfully vulnerable cities.

War against Japan means, undoubtedly, war against the entire Axis. Whether or not there is formal declaration, we are today at war with Germany. For Japan acts only as the partner, the agent of Germany in the world-wide scheme for Axis domination of every nation, every race, every living being upon earth.

The sides are, at last, definitely aligned. The war has become world-wide. We know our foes, beyond equivocation. The die is cast and there will be no turning aside until the cause is won.

America, a united America, stands foursquare against the treacherous aggressor. The sword is drawn and, by the help of God and our own strong arm, it shall not be sheathed until it is circled with victory.

The dictators still talk as if they were in there permanently. These are the same fellows who dwell from time to time on our laughable ignorance of history.

Industry Teaches

The emphasis which has been placed on industrial education within recent times—specifically, since this nation determined to become a genuine arsenal of democracy—has been noted by educators and laymen alike. It represents one of the major changes in education in this country, and as such is a phenomena virtually without parallel in our long history. Schools and colleges are training more than a million persons in preparation for skilled work in the defense industries, while governmental agencies such as the National Youth Administration are training thousands more.

Yet probably the most intensive education along these lines is being carried out by industry itself. There is hardly a large industrial concern that today does not maintain some sort of school where young men and women learn theory and practice at the same time. This is especially true of companies handling orders in the great national defense program. It is as if it should be, for the simple reason that industry can do a very fine job in this regard, and so should continue to do so.

To those who object to industry doing this training, it can be pointed out these companies work in co-operation with vocational schools as well as high schools in many cities of the country. It is to industry's credit that it recognizes the need for this training and goes about doing something about it. It is perhaps hackneyed, but none the less true, that this war—the defeat of Hitler—will be accomplished on the assembly line no less than on the firing line.

Dentists say the face grows longer between the ages of 16 and 19. It is then, as a rule, that the facts of life can be fully explained, including taxes.

They Can't Understand!

It is the stupidity of the Russians that is causing the Nazi army commanders so much trouble in the Russian campaign, according to German official reports and the remarks of German commentators.

This stupidity has been evidenced in many ways, some of them utterly shocking to such sticklers for observance of the rules of war as the Germans! For instance, the Nazis simply cannot understand why Russians, who have seen their homes destroyed by Nazi shells and bombs, who have seen their land despoiled and desecrated by the invader, who have seen their brothers and fathers and sisters and mothers die by Nazi weapons, should shoot to kill a German if opportunity offers. That, say the outraged Nazis, is strictly contrary to the rules. But the height of something or other is reached in German alibis for their defeat at Rostov. Speaking over the German shortwave radio, an announcer attributes that disaster, among other things, to "the Russians' inability to understand that they were defeated."

That is the kind of stupidity by which wars are won. It is the stupidity by which striving man has won the victory in all fields of human endeavor. By never knowing when you're whipped, by keeping on in the face of apparently hopeless disaster, by fighting to the last gasp.

No man can be beaten who will never acknowledge his defeat. The Russians may be stupid, according to German standards, but theirs is the stupidity that, some day, will bring about the utter destruction of the hateful plague of Nazi lust for conquest.

Einstein, who likened one of his theories to turning a tennis ball inside out without tearing the cover, is probably the one to explain inflation.

It is supposed that among friends, like the 12 co-signers of the anti-Red pact, Ribbentrop lays his marked cards on the table.

Among the subjects which General Ben Lear proposes to teach his Intrepid Second Army is geography. And what to do about it.

Maybe it's too late to duck, but there is nothing in this world outlook that we particularly wanted for Christmas.

Georgia Editors Say:

(From The Vidalia Advance.)

We have been asked to increase the production of dairy products in Georgia nine percent in 1942 as one of the steps in the national defense program. Of course, one way to get this increase is to milk more cows on Georgia farms. And until our farm families are more adequately supplied, we need more cows. We have too many farms with no cow at all.

Another method of increasing the amount of dairy products, and one which should be used along with increasing numbers, is to increase production of the sows we now have.

If all the milk cows in Georgia produced as much as those in herd improvement associations in this state, we could have more than a 50 percent increase in dairy products without increasing cow numbers. The average Georgia milk cow produces about 3,200 pounds of milk and 160 pounds of butterfat yearly while the cows in herds doing herd improvement work in Georgia average 3,700 pounds of milk and 269 pounds of butterfat yearly.

WASHINGTON PARADE

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.

A SCHEME THAT FAILED WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—If the matter were less serious—300 to 500—by which the house passed the latest $8,000,000 supplemental defense bill after the arch isolationist Chicago Tribune published a highly sensational copyrighted story purporting to give details of secret War Department plans for sending an expeditionary force of 5,000,000 men to Europe.

There is every reason to believe that the story was timed for publication on the very day the house began consideration of the supplemental defense bill. Its obvious purpose was to embarrass the administration, whose foreign policy is so bitterly opposed by the Tribune, and if possible defeat the latest defense appropriations. The ludicrous side of the picture is found in the fact that only five out of a total house membership of 435 were impressed enough by the purported disclosure to vote against the bill. That may be taken to reflect the net weight of the Tribune's influence in congress.

SERIOUS SIDE But the incident has a far more serious side. It undoubtedly represents the most flagrant abuse of the freedom of the press that the country that flaunted any country outside of the United States would most likely—and justifiably so—have resulted in the suspension of the offending newspaper. In Germany, Italy, Japan or Russia it would cause the guilty persons to be shot for treason. Nor would there be any ceremony about it.

While the authenticity of the documents is yet (at this writing) to be officially denied or confirmed, the Tribune, by its own acknowledgment, has printed highly secret military "plans" of our War Department for dealing with some future emergency with which we may be concerned.

"WANTING IN LOYALTY" Secretary of War Stimson has properly denounced the Chicago paper as "wanting in loyalty and patriotism to their government."

Assuming that the military documents referred to are basically true, the offense committed by the Tribune is not confined to the mere publication of the purported secret plans or the nefarious means—bribery or otherwise—employed in getting them.

Equal opprobrium attaches to the manner in which the documents were interpreted and in the sensational treatment given the story. The whole performance smacks of the greatest exhibition of yellow journalism that has ever been seen in America. Aside from trying to make the President of the United States a liar, the underlying purpose of the article was to create the impression in the popular mind that all of our defense preparations are being undertaken with the ultimate objective of sending a large expeditionary force to Europe.

In an attempt to justify its own haywire reporting of foreign policy developments in the past, the Chicago paper set forth the documents as justification for every crackpot stand taken by appeaser and isolationist opponents since the beginning. Here was the final proof of all the noninterventionist fears! The War Department had actually drawn up plans for sending 5,000,000 men to crush Hitler.

MANY PLANS The truth of it is that there is not a responsible newspaperman in Washington who does not know that the War Department and its war plans division has drawn up blueprints covering any kind of future war in which the country might become engaged.

As Secretary Stimson has put it: "What would you think of an American general staff which, in the presence of the world, did not study and investigate every conceivable type of emergency which may confront this country and every possible method of meeting that emergency?"

We are now lending every assistance short of actual war to Great Britain in the fight against Germany, yet in the files of the same war plans division we have very elaborate blueprints for the defense of this country against attack from Britain through Canada, in the event of some future war between the two countries.

If some newspaperman fished a copy of the plans and published them they would make a sensational reading. They would probably have diplomatic repercussions abroad, although it stands to reason that other countries have similar war plans drawn for some possible clash with us.

JUST ROUTINE What the War Department has undoubtedly done in the present case, if the purported documents are revealed to be authentic, has been nothing more than bring its German blueprints up to date. You don't wait until you are actually in war to have all of your plans ready touching every possible phase of the emergency. Neither does this mean that every advance plan will be executed.

It is not beyond the realm of possibility that we may find it expedient to send an AEF to Europe if we are drawn into the war. We may have to send one to South America or to Africa as well. We would be foolishly to wait until the last minute to draw up the blueprints for such an undertaking.

The Chicago Tribune knows all of this as well as anyone. Entirely aside from its treacherous conduct in gaining possession and publishing the secret plans, it has sought to perpetrate a deliberate deception on the public by grossly misrepresenting the gravity of the documents.

UP TO CONGRESS In the final analysis congress, after all, is the only body empowered to declare war, and we can't send an expeditionary force anywhere until we have declared war, regardless of what plans may be drawn to this end. Evidently the plan in casting only five votes against the new defense appropriations.

The vote in a measure may be accepted as a repudiation of the Tribune's tactics. It would be more amusing if it were less serious.

SILHOUETTES

By RALPH T. JONES.

One Subject Only Today.

There is, of course, only one subject possible for talking about today. That is the bald, bitter fact this country is at war. This column is written on Monday forenoon, but it is safe to assume the congress will promptly declare us at war with Japan, at least, after hearing the President's message. Even before that official act, it would be foolish to say we are at war—Japan has declared war on us, which is all that is necessary.

It is one of the supreme tragedies of an age shattered with tragedy that we should enter the world war, as an active belligerent, against a nation for which we have done so much and with whom, through the decades, we have tried so sincerely to be friendly.

Do you remember when tens of thousands of Japanese were homeless and hungry because of earthquakes? What nation fed them and helped them and loaned them the money and material to regain their normal ways of life after that tragedy? Why, the United States, of course.

Do you recall the innumerable occasions when American dollars have poured into Japan to help her people to a better standard of living? Do you recall how, not so very long ago as the life of nations is measured, we were always singing the praises of the Japanese and wishing them well? I, for one, can remember the days before men talked of the "Yellow Peril," when we held a pride in Japan's achievements.

She was a sort of national protégé of ours. Wasn't it America that first opened Japan's doors to communications and trade with the western world and thus made it possible for her to climb out of barbarity and take her place among the nations?

Now Comes This Treachery. Now, after all these years, comes an act of treachery that would be unbelievable had not Nazi Germany and Fascist Italy acted in like manner and so prepared us to accept such things as possible.

Today, as news reports of the damage done at Honolulu, at Pearl Harbor and at other Pacific posts comes we might as well admit we have, at the onset of this war, suffered a serious defeat. Our navy and air force have lost heavily. Japan has gained first advantage of treachery and we might as well acknowledge the fact.

Personally, I can't understand how the Japanese attackers were able to get so close, within easy striking range, without the knowledge of our armed forces there. Where were the air and naval patrols, while those aircraft carriers were consuming a week's time in sailing to Hawaii?

And, if we were so well informed about Japanese troop movements into French Indo-China, where was our intelligence service while those Jap submarines were preparing and sailing for distant posts on our side of the Pacific? The answer to those questions probably won't be known for a long time, if ever. But they are worrisome, nevertheless.

The Outcome Is Certain. Insofar as Japan is concerned, however, final outcome of the conflict into which she has so recklessly plunged, is beyond question. Everything is against her. She is ringed around with enemies, Germany is too busy with Russia and in Libya to be able to help.

Japan has, in cold fact, committed national suicide, harikiri. It seems the blind military leaders there, rapidly "losing face" because of their failure in China, have deliberately chosen to ruin their own country rather than admit that failure.

One good thing about the whole affair is that it created complete national unity in the United States, instantaneously. In this respect, the thing could not have come in better fashion. The treachery, the doubling, the wilful deception, taught everyone in this nation the utter futility of appeasement when dealing with an Axis power. There are, today, no American isolationists left. It is something to be thankful for.

The Wheeler, Taft, Vandenberg coterie have had to change their tune. And that even the Chicago Tribune, so long so blind, has at last rediscovered loyalty to the nation.

I wonder whether we shall hear

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The opinions expressed by Mr. Pegler in this column are his own and do not necessarily represent the opinion of The Atlanta Constitution.

False Claim. NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—Of course, the Movie Employee's Union or racket is a horrible example of the perfidy of the union-employer and I never have said that all AFL unions were equally crooked although the general average morality of these unions is very bad.

But the professional unioneer and some of the labor fakery in congress and other public positions constantly try to represent that, this horrible example, the movie racket, was a freak and that the AFL was the victim of its own trust in certain individuals and of the liberalism of its own constitution.

That is a false claim for no worldly person can believe that Bill Green and the other members of the executive council of the AFL were ignorant of the criminal character of George Browne, recently sentenced to prison for extortion as president of the union. Dan Tobin, for example, president of the Teamsters and also a member of the executive council, knew Browne was a racketeer and Green must have known, but, nevertheless, tolerated and supported Browne almost to the day of his conviction in the federal court.

As to the liberalism of the AFL constitution I offer today some observations on a particular case. Under the constitution, each of the component international unions, including the movie racket, is autonomous and each local union in turn is autonomous. The Musicians' Union is an exception. This one is an absolute despotism whose national president, Jimmy Petrillo, has power to revoke any part or all of the constitution and substitute his own whim as the law of the union at any time and the AFL has seen no reason to interfere.

How It Operated. In Newark, N. J., Local 244 of the movie operators for years has been run by a stick-up-man and life-long racketeer named Louis Kaufman who divided his membership into two groups, the senior and the juniors. Seniors have had full membership privileges but juniors have had no privileges at all. They couldn't vote, they couldn't even hold union meetings except under Kaufman's supervision. They had to pay an income tax of 10 per cent of their wages up to $50 a week and 15 per cent above $50 and they had to work extra tricks for nothing and turn over the full pay for this extra work to Kaufman and other officers, personally. They had to obtain a two-thirds vote of the seniors present to advance from the status of junior to senior and pay an initiation fee of $500 for such advancement which was granted to relatives of the officers or relatives of local politicians. There was no question of comparative age or skill in the distinction between juniors and seniors. Both groups included men of all ages and all degrees of proficiency. The term "junior" meant "robot" or "slave" and nothing else.

But under the constitutions of the local, the international and the AFL, no member, junior or senior, had a Chairman's chance in a protest. Kaufman, a criminal, ran the local and Browne, a gangster, ran the international, so an appeal to the local would be turned back, probably with a ball-bat, and an appeal to Browne would only evoke a phone call from Browne to Kaufman informing him that a squealer was crying for his rights, and, of course, it would be and, in fact, still is impossible to appeal to the AFL because the victim is required to carry his complaints upward through the union courts.

Still in Authority. Even now, with Browne in prison and with Kaufman under an indictment similar to the one of which Browne was convicted, no member can appeal to Browne's successor, Richard F. Walsh, of New York, because, notwithstanding his indictment, Kaufman remains in authority as business agent of the local and his slate of supporters in the lesser official positions in the local area about to be re-elected.

My point of emphasis is that under the constitution of the AFL all that has been cited here is legal and that Kaufman, a notorious criminal, who for years has robbed union workers of as much as $5,000 out of the treasury, is still the boss of the union with full power. (That if he simply were exceptional, although they are not rare, but, under the AFL system, this condition could exist today in every local in the country and William Green still could say that nobody might interfere lest labor gain be threatened by the forces of the reaction.)

I submit that the whole system has been shown to be vicious and should be revised.

again from Charlie Lindbergh, now. For my part it will be entirely fair if he simply keeps his mouth shut. I don't care, even, to hear a confession of error from him.

And we might as well prepare ourselves to pay the price of victory. That victory will, eventually, be ours. But it will cost ships and planes and men and, least important of all, money. I hope it will be a quick sort of a war. I hope we shall wear no figurative kid gloves. I am hard enough to hope we shall give Japanese cities a good dose of the same horrors Japanese airmen let loose upon helpless Chinese. And I hope Japan's example will serve to show the other gangster nations that, for nations as well as men, the ways of peace are the surest ways to prosperity and the ways of war spell doom for all aggressors. And that the old, old axiom is true—"honesty is the best policy."

ONE WORD MORE

By RALPH MCGILL.

NOT WITH CORN STALKS Marse Robert Toombs used to delight the people of the south, by saying we could "whip the Yankees with corn stalks."

For some years our arm-chair strategists and some of our more enthusiastic Navy men have been saying we'd knock the Japanese out of the ocean in six months, or less.

More responsible Navy officers view the problem as one in which our strength will bring ultimate victory, but they regard the problem gravely and speak in terms of two years, rather than six months or 90 days.

We do not know the facts about comparative tonnage. We may only guess. And estimate. Before the war began there were two nations which had been able to keep their real strength a deep, dark secret. That was Russia and Japan.

No one really knew anything about the Russian army. No one knew anything much about the Japanese navy. This much we do know.

In 1934 Japan withdrew from all naval agreements and began to build furiously and on a 24-hour-per-day schedule. This was long before we or England began our programs. Estimates by observers of Great Britain and the United States have been published from time to time. They are guesses. How good they were will be determined before the war is much older.

All observers agreed Japan had considerable strength. They believed it to be true, however, most susceptible to blockade.

Its defensive strength is believed great. The attack must be carried to Japan if we are to win in any thing like even a relatively short period of time.

In such a fight the Japanese have all the advantages. 60 PER CENT EFFICIENCY It is an old Navy axiom that a fleet outside the range of its bases loses 40 per cent of its efficiency.

Japan was far from her bases in the attack on Pearl Harbor and Manila. If we go to the attack we will be at a decided disadvantage. The distances are an average 2,000 miles from our main bases.

Japan has all her navy in one ocean and can keep them near bases and maintain some sort of supply line.

We have no idea of how many vessels may be spared from the Atlantic. One reason German wanted Japan in the war was that she should draw us from the Atlantic. It is entirely probable the Sunday attack will force us to do that. The British, with the Mediterranean and the Atlantic to think about, also has her fleet drawn thin.

The British also suffer from lack of bases. We have no idea how many of the islands Japan has made into bases. Some have been used.

Our two bases, of size, are Hawaii and Philippines. Hawaii is 3,400 miles from Yokohama.

Manila is an approximate 3,000 miles from Yokohama and is 1,500 miles from the British base at Singapore.

The Japanese have a string of islands. They either launched their four-motor bombers from one of those islands or flew them from Japan and landed them back at some island base. How many of those bases are known to the Navy we, the public, do not know.

TONNAGE STRENGTH Japan was reported to have 12 battleships and one near completion six months ago. All these are in the Pacific.

The United States has 17 battleships and about 15 under construction. Some of them are two years away.

Before the crisis in the Atlantic, we had 12 battleships in the Pacific. No one knows for sure, but the supposition is we removed some of these first-line ships to the Atlantic or to the waters about the Panama Canal.

There was a well-founded report that our plans for defense of the Pacific and for offense against the Japanese fleet, was to be based on air power. Concentrations of bombers and Flying Fortresses, with fighter escorts, was believed to have been begun and nearly completed.

Destruction of so many of our planes by attacks on the hangars at dawn Sunday, depleted us. According to official government reports our plane losses were "heavy."

This threw the burden on the Navy. The Navy, because of the treachery of the Japanese by keeping their "peace" emissaries in Washington, incautiously caught our Navy asleep at Pearl Harbor. The American ships are slower than those of the Japanese but have more fire power. It is believed our ships have heavier armor.

Against this is the report the Japanese have launched three or four battleships of the 40,000-ton class and is ready to commission three of the super-cruiser class such as the Germans had in the Graf Spee. These so-called "pocket battleships" are superior to our heavy cruisers.

Our two-ocean navy is at least two years away. We have the resources and the strength and will win. But we will not win in 90 days. It will not be easy. The people who think so are indulging in wishful thinking.

The Buyer Must Haggle If the Seller Is Trying To Get All He Can

By ROBERT QUILLEN.

When fire appeared on the roof of John Smith's country home, neighbor boys formed a bucket brigade and had the last smoldering spark extinguished in a few minutes. It was a good job and the boys were proud of themselves. John himself was extravagantly grateful.

"You are gallant heroes," said he, "and I'll never forget you. I'm your friend for life."

That seemed to end the incident, but a year later the boys came back and demanded $10 each for their services. John paid, but without enthusiasm.

Thereafter the boys appeared once a year, each time demanding more, and John began to feel imposed upon.

The boys matured and married and then appeared for what they called a final settlement. "We have decided," they said, "that you should give each of us an annuity and also provide for our wives and children in case we die."

"But what do we did for you," said the boys. "You don't seem very grateful."

"Grateful!" growled John. "For what? Are you grateful to the man who repairs your car if you pay him in full? While I thought you had served me as a neighborly kindness, you had my gratitude and admiration and good will; but when you make it a plain business proposition, it is no longer a matter of sentiment. You are trying to get all you can out of me, and you are entitled to no more respect than any other guy who tries to gouge me."

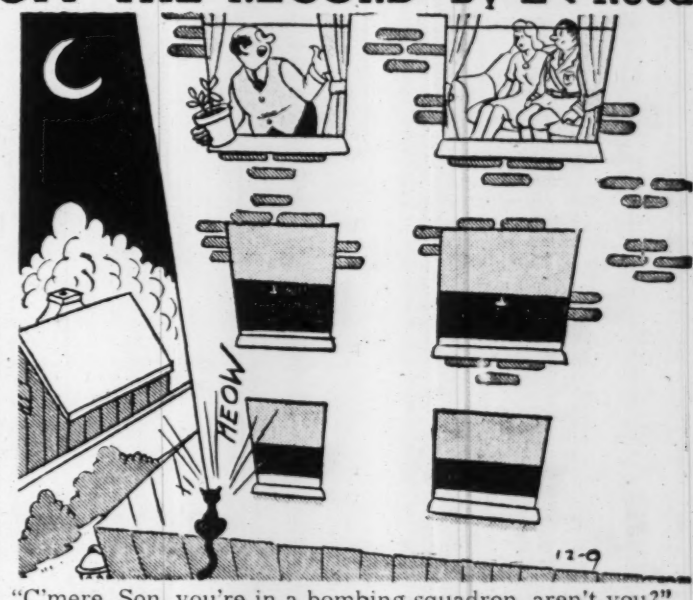

This is a parable of the veterans. And though the trick is worked by lobbyists, striving only to earn their pay and keep their jobs, veterans of the first World War have already received eleven billion dollars in cash, plus another two billion in care and service—not counting what the states have done for them.

Now the house of representatives has passed, and the senate is considering, another measure which would pension all veterans at a cost of five billion dollars.

If this air pension becomes law, every veteran who spent 90 days in a training camp will receive a pension of $40 a month, beginning when he is 65, and his widow and children will be pensioned after his death. If he takes a young wife in his old age, and she bears children, taxpayers may not finish their gratitude for a century.

Taxpayers are beginning to wake up. Next March 15 they will be fully awake. Paying for the present war will keep all of us poor the rest of our lives, even if all useless spending is stopped. To add another five billion to the burden will seem much like riding a free horse to death.

OFF THE RECORD—By Ed Reed

"C'mere, Son, you're in a bombing squadron, aren't you?"

Dudley Glass

Some time ago I voiced my disapproval of the pestiferous blue jay.

I've never quite believed in spiritualism, but I have received a communication from the long-deceased Mark Twain. It says: "Read and review my 'Baker's Blue Jay' yarn."

Somewhat I have my doubts. It's signed "Mark Twain," but the postcard is dated from Gainesville, Ga. And comparison with a facsimile signature by Mark on a volume of "Huckleberry Finn" in my library shows but slight resemblance.

I can't help thinking that if the beloved author had written me from the spirit world he'd have signed his stuff "Samuel L. Clemens." Or it may be that Clemens, for his misdeeds, such as smoking in bed, was barred from heaven, while Mark Twain, for the benefits he had conferred upon the world, was admitted. "There are more things 'twixt heaven and earth, Horatio, than are known in our philosophy." End quote.

Be that as it may, I take pleasure in mentioning Mark's famous blue jay yarn. I think you'll find it in "Roughing It." It was about a deserted cabin in a ghost town. A cabin with a hole in the roof. And a blue jay who found an acorn and was looking for a good hole to store it in. And how he dropped the acorn in the hole and couldn't hear it hit bottom. So he went back for more acorns. He wore his feathers off with no results. He enlisted so many brethren and sisters that old Jim Baker, who was watching proceedings, declared the whole region was covered with a "blue flush" of jaybirds. And finally a wise old owl flew over from Calaveras county and shambled into the cabin's open door and discovered a pyramid of acorns which would fill a box car. I'm writing from memory and probably improving on Mark Twain—but that's the gist of the story. I have sometimes held doubts about its scientific accuracy.

Farmer Jim Page

Tradition says there are three things anybody can do better than the boob who are doing them. Running a farm, running a hotel, running a newspaper.

My friend Jim Page has never tackled a newspaper job, so far as I know, because he seems an intelligent person. But he does run a big hotel—the Henry Grady. And I discovered a few days ago he owns and bosses—by remote control—a thousand-acre farm down in Washington county. So perhaps the folk who try to tell him about those two industries are barking up the wrong tree.

I didn't inquire about profits from Jim Page's farm. He may be mopping up on peanuts and corn and even cotton. I never ask a city farmer about profits. They're sensitive. So many of them toil overtime to earn enough money to support the farm. The harder they work the less time they have to visit their farm. But maybe Jim is making his farm pay.

I may have been disrespectful in calling him "Jim." Officially he is Lieutenant Colonel J. J. Page Jr., of the Governor's staff. And a scion of the distinguished line of the Pages of Vuhginyah, suh, of which Thomas Nelson Page, famous author and diplomat, was a shining light.

As a hotel man he has been everything from bellhop to assistant chamber maid, starting in his home county. Only way to learn the hotel business, as the big boss of New York's biggest hotel will tell you. You can't learn it from a book.

Honey Locust Pods

Few days ago this column expressed wonder at an ad in a weekly paper offering to pay for locust honey pods—you know, those long beans of the locust tree, with sticky stuff inside them. Mighty sweet, but more trouble to get the goody out of than a French article.

Letter from Ernest Hinson, of Baldwin, Ga., explains.

He says a rubber company has been experimenting and has found that sweet "honey" inside coating—called "endosperm"—makes a fine "creaming agent" in the manufacture of rubber.

From Mark Twain— A Post Card. With Gainesville Date

So he tried collecting honey locust pods by the ton this year and did round up two tons of pods and 400 pounds of seed. But this year's crop was an almost complete seed failure. Mr. Hinson's company will try again next year.

He says also that honey locust pods, ground up, have about three-fourths the value of corn meal for fattening livestock.

Have you a honey locust tree on your lot?

Good Morning

By LOUIE D. NEWTON.

"FOR OF SUCH."

Dean Raimundo de Ovies said to me last Sunday afternoon when I went by his room at the hospital. "Say, but that service you had this morning with those boys and girls from the Georgia Baptist Home at Hapeville was a blessing to us who listened over the radio. We felt anew the wonderful words of Lord Jesus, when He said: 'Suffer little children, and forbid them not, to come unto Me; for of such is the Kingdom of Heaven.' I lay here and rejoiced with all God's people for the ministry of the church to the child-hood of the world."

I was grateful for this testimony from Dean de Ovies, a minister of Jesus Christ, whose heart is so sensitively attuned to the "child within the midst" and whose ministry to childhood, both in his own great church, and through his remarkably suggestive and helpful books, is helping all of us to do a better job in trying to minister to youth.

One remembers the words of James: "Pure religion and undefiled before God and the Father is this. To visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction, and to keep himself unstained from the world." And I have the ever-deepening conviction that when we are doing something for orphaned boys and girls, we are really honoring the Lord Jesus Christ, and drawing ever nearer to Him.

I give thanks for the ministry of every home for orphaned children—for the various institutions here in Georgia, supported by the Methodists, Christians, Presbyterians, Episcopalians, Catholics, Lutherans, Jews, Baptists, Methodists, and all the friends whose hearts go out in genuine compassion for the little people who have been bereft of earthly parents. And likewise for the ministry of similar institutions throughout our nation, and the world. And I think in this connection of the gifts that have gone from our nation to the war-torn lands for orphaned and widows. Surely, much united effort must make glad the heart of God.

I only wish that every reader of this column might have witnessed the picture at our church last Sunday when these 186 boys and girls marched into the meeting house—that you might have seen their bright faces, their strong bodies, their pretty dresses and warm suits—that you might have seen them at the tables, enjoying the good dinner which the mothers of our church prepared with such joy.

Dean de Ovies is just exactly correct, I think, in saying that it makes God's people happy to know of such ministry to His little ones, "for of such is the kingdom of heaven." Let us, then, highly resolve that evermore we shall seek to care for these little friends, to the glory of Him, who said: "Whosoever shall not receive the Kingdom of God as a little child, he shall not enter therein."

NURSES TO MEET.

ROME, Ga., Dec. 8.—Miss Kathryn Pendley, president of the Seventh District Georgia State Nurses Association, has announced the annual banquet for the nurses in the district will be held here Wednesday. A tentative program for the coming year has been announced, with meetings to be held in Rome.

Citizens' State Defense Group Is Established

Composed of 35 Members, Committee Will Aid War Activities.

Governor Talmadge established a Citizens' Defense Committee yesterday to co-ordinate all of the war activities of the state.

His announcement was made a few minutes after the declaration of war on Japan.

The Governor directed the committee, composed of some 35 prominent Georgians, to set up facilities for coping with the emergency and directed the state auditor to transfer necessary funds "for the proper and instantaneous operations of the committee."

Hughes Spalding, Atlanta lawyer, was appointed temporary chairman. Spalding was requested to call a meeting of the committee as quickly as possible for the election of a permanent chairman and secretary.

Rally To Be Called.

The Governor also directed Spalding to call a statewide rally of members of the Governor's staff, State Defense Corps members, peace officers, mayors and others at Macon December 14.

Senator Walter F. George will be invited to make the principal address at this meeting.

Members of the committee, besides Spalding, are:

Blanton Fortson, Athens; Preston Arkwright, Atlanta; Cason Callaway, Chippewa; Dewey Johnson, Atlanta; Lucy Randolph Mason, Atlanta; John Spivey, Swainsboro; Arthur Acklin, Atlanta; Lindsey W. Camp, Atlanta; Imman Curry, Augusta; H. V. Jenkins, Savannah; Dave S. Atkinson, Savannah.

Frank S. Cartlett, Brunswick; Charles L. Bowden, Macon; Marion Allen, Milledgeville; W. T. Anderson, Macon; M. T. McIntosh, Albany; Delacey Allen, Albany; Zach Arnold, Fort Gaines; Guy O. Stone, Glennville; James H. Clark, Ringgold; Frank E. Gabriel, Clarksville.

Other Committeemen.

John Graham, Rome; W. W. Mundy, Cedartown; Ralph Rosser, LaFayette; Dr. Frank Bird, Valdosta; George R. Lilly, Quitman; T. Hicks Fort, Columbus; Otis Brumby, Marietta; Charles D. Redwine, Fayetteville; Randall Evand, Thomson; Lucien Goodrich, Griffin.

Robert Strickland, Atlanta; Erle Cocke, Atlanta; J. D. Robinson, Atlanta; and H. Lane Young, Atlanta.

Meanwhile, Governor Talmadge placed the state guard and all of Georgia's resources at the disposal of the federal government today.

In a telegram to President Roosevelt, he said:

"I pledge you the co-operation of the citizens of Georgia and the present administration in our great emergency. We have a home defense corps of 251 units fully organized in 139 counties, consisting of 612 officers and 4,945 men armed and in uniform.

At Disposal of Country.

"This organization and every resource of the State of Georgia is at the disposal of our country. We expect you as the commander in chief to let us know what is expected and Georgia will do her part. Best regards."

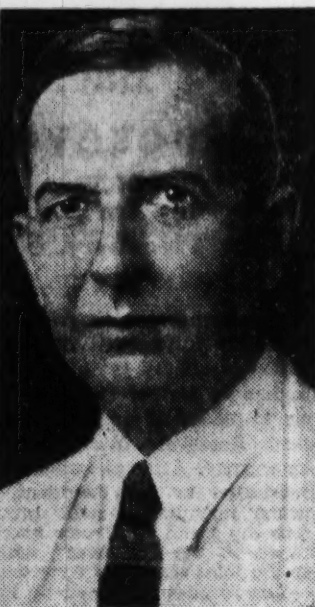

The provost marshal general had wired the Governor from Washington that the Secretary of War had directed him to suggest that Governor Talmadge "consider preparing the state guard or other forces at your disposal for co-operation with federal troops operating under the command of the corps area in which your state is located."

Talmadge directed Colonel Lindley Camp, commander of the State Defense Corps, to find out what the federal government wanted the state guard to do and then to do it.

At the same time Attorney General Ellis Arnall dispatched the following telegram to the President:

Loyal Support Promised.

"We Georgians thank God that in this hour of national peril and extremity our nation's destiny is

DEFENSE CHAIRMAN —

Hughes Spalding, of Atlanta, yesterday was named temporary chairman of a Citizens Defense Committee created by Governor Talmadge to co-ordinate activities rendered vital by war.

In your hands. The people of this state will loyally and patriotically support you and the administration in your determined effort to save our American way of life and the government which we love. Georgians are rallying loyally and are uniting themselves for the fight which lies ahead."

Volunteering the services of his department in the defense effort, Commissioner of Natural Resources Zack D. Cravey instructed with wild life rangers, forest rangers, state park rangers and patrolmen to report to police officials in their respective sections for emergency duty in the protection of state, government, industrial and public welfare. They were ordered to stand ready for duty 24 hours a day.

Cravey added that the division of mines, under the direction of Captain Garland Peyton, was prepared to sacrifice all of its available materials, equipment and personnel to speed up production of Georgia minerals vital to national defense.

AAAHandbook Is Ready for Distribution

Volume Gives Information to Farmers About 1942 Program.

Special to THE CONSTITUTION.

ATHENS, Ga., Dec. 8.—In keeping with the overall national speed-up, virtually all Georgia farmers will have received copies of the 1942 Agricultural Adjustment Administration Handbook within a few days—about four months ahead of last year—T. R. Breedlove, state AAA administrative officer, announced today.

"The Handbook, containing provisions of the 1942 agricultural conservation program, has been rushed off the presses and is now ready for distribution, thus making it possible for Georgia farmers to start the new program year fully informed on 1942 regulations," Breedlove said.

Sufficient copies of the Handbook were sent to county agricultural conservation association offices to permit distribution to every farmer in the state.

The handbook is complete, Breedlove said, except for a statement of rates of conservation payments, which have been set since the publication went to press.

Major changes in the regulations for 1942 provide for an increase from 20 to 25 percent in the required acreage in soil-conserving or erosion-resisting crops or land uses; the elimination of acreage allotments on commercial vegetables, and increased rates of payment for the application of superphosphate and basic slag.

Augusta Camp Seeks Additional Acreage

AUGUSTA, Ga., Dec. 8.—(P)—Condemnation proceedings involving 1,989 acres of land in the Camp Gordon Area have been filed with the clerk of the federal court here.

A check for $14,970,000 and a declaration of taking signed by War Secretary Henry I. Stimson were deposited with the clerk.

The property is located in the 119th and 121st districts of Richmond and Columbia counties.

LAYOUT IS PRAISED BY LAVONIA EDITOR

Editor, Constitution: I am writing to commend you and The Constitution for the four sections in today's Constitution. The layout of these four outside pages is the prettiest I have ever seen. I have them spread out now on a stone in the office and am carrying the office force around to admire them. Whoever dreamed these pages up did a grand job. It just looks like Paul Warwick and I am wondering if these pages are his brain-child. It certainly is a grand job and I just want to tell you how pretty I think these designs are. With regards to you and The Constitution, I beg to remain,

Navy Relaxes Requirements, Many Join Here

Men Formerly Declined Asked To Reapply at Once.

Important relaxation of physical requirements for enlistment was announced yesterday by the naval recruiting office as between 150 and 200 applicants jammed the headquarters seeking to join the sea forces at once.

Chief changes permitted acceptance of volunteers who are slightly underweight, have small deficiencies of chest measurements or require surgery which can be completed within a month—the operations being performed by Navy doctors.

"There are hundreds of Georgians who previously have been turned down for these reasons," it was declared by Chief Boat-swain's Mate Robert S. Bankston, in charge of the headquarters, 320 New Post Office building. "We want these men to come in immediately. Most of them now will be eligible."

"We urge them to report direct to the recruiting office without bothering to telephone or write."

Throughout the day the telephone of the office rang with callers to enlist. Office hours were lengthened to extend from 8 o'clock a. m. to 8 o'clock, p. m. Previously applications have averaged about 6 daily.

Men between 17 and 50 years of age will be received for the naval reserve for enlistments of from 2 to 4 years, or for the duration of the war, while enlistments in the regular Navy will be accepted from men ranging from 17 to 31 years of age. The latter enlistments are for six years or, in the cases of applicants aged 17 or 18 years, until they have attained their majority.

Savannah Sailor Stages Show With Rodeo Horse

SAVANNAH, Ga., Dec. 8.—The horse marines have got nothing on this horse mariner, who can fan a mustang with the best of 'em.

A rodeo was unloading here and this particular mustang was being backed down a truck ramp, when a sailor shuffled his way through a throng of witnesses and leaped aboard.

For fully 15 minutes he put the startled horse—sans saddle—through his paces, gleefully explaining to the crowd that he was a horseman from "way back."

Chancellor Sanford Predicts Early Accord in School Row

Declaring that war demands a united and firm stand on the part of Georgia education, Chancellor S. V. Sanford yesterday expressed confidence that all irregularities in the University System would be adjusted in 90 days and predicted that when the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools meets next December Georgia's blacklisted colleges would be reinstated effective September 1, 1942.

In a letter to the presidents, faculties and students of the 10 colleges which have been suspended, effective next September, Chancellor Sanford said parents and students should not be disturbed at present, pointing out there was "ample time in which to rectify the existing situation."

Credits Acceptable. Chancellor Sanford made it clear that all credits for the current school year would be accepted at any time and anywhere by all standard colleges and universities, as will credits earned during the fourth or summer quarter.

"It is a case growing out of a conflict of ideals and strong convictions of strong personalities," the chancellor wrote. "Let us all be calm, firm, consistent, courageous, and avoid spreading pessimism, mental confusion, uncertainty and panic."

"The United States is today at war," he continued. "This is another reason why we should stand united and firm. In this blackout period we must discover within ourselves resources to live by which will enable us to face the issue with courage. Dark times are often birth moments and we cannot see light in the darkness, but do well to hope that a new era will come to birth out of it, even though we know it will come through suffering and agony."

Faith in Education.

"When your country needs you, it will call you. The nation needs educated men, both in war and in peace. I am confident in the light of what is taking place in the world today that colleges and universities in democracies are the hope of the world. We must have faith in education if this world is to be saved from this and similar catastrophes."

"In the future, more than in the past, our colleges and universities must send forth men and women equipped to cope with the intricate problems which confront us today—with faith unshaken and undaunted and with ability to face facts honestly, seeking only the truth."

55,000 Farms In State Have Electricity

Number Shows Big Gain Since REA Instituted in 1935.

ATHENS, Ga., Dec. 8.—According to a recent REA survey, 55,000 farms in Georgia, 25.5 per cent of all the farms in the state, were receiving central station electric service as of June 30, 1941.

On January 1, 1935, the year in which FEA was established, only 6,956 farms were receiving such service out of a total of 250,544 farms in the state, or 2.8 per cent, reports H. S. Glenn, rural electrification specialist for the Georgia Agricultural Extension Service.

The 48,044 newly electrified farms, representing a 690.7 per cent increase, enabled Georgia to rise from 41st to 33rd rank among the states in percentage of farm electrification, he pointed out.

A total of $17,337,000 had been allotted by the REA to 44 borrowers in Georgia, as of June 30, for construction of 18,000 miles of power lines to serve 75,500 consumers.

Identity of Dead Man Sought at Fernandina

SPECIAL TO THE CONSTITUTION. FERNANDINA, Fla., Dec. 8.—(AP)—The body of a well-dressed man said by officers to have been killed in a fall from a passenger train was held here today for identification.

He said a ticket bought at Boston, Mass., for Winter Haven, Fla., was found in the man's billfold along with baggage check, five dollars in cash but no identification cards. ## Fulton Jurors New Methodist Wire Backing Pastors Here To Roosevelt Are Welcomed Emergency Thrust Upon Us by Treachery, Says Probe Group.

The Fulton county grand jury yesterday interrupted its investigation of alleged graft during the regime of former Governor Rivers to pledge its support to President Roosevelt in the present emergency. After telegraphing its resolution to the President, the grand jury had a radio brought into the grand jury room and listened to the President's address to the joint session of congress.

The resolution, signed by Foreman H. S. Collinsworth and Secretary Elwyn M. Settle was as follows: "We, the Grand Jury of Fulton County, Georgia, now in session, hasten to extend to you—as our commander-in-chief—in the emergency which has been thrust upon us by Japanese treachery, the full assurance of our loyal support. Our cause is right and we have every reason to believe that a glorious victory will come to us."

"We trust that it will be sustaining to you to know that all groups and individuals are ready to assist our country in this hour of peril. Be assured that we, as a body and—in our opinion—representing the united sentiment of this community offer our united support."

"This the 8th day of December, 1941."

Native Georgian, Was Survivor of Battle of Atlanta.

William C. Davis, one of the last survivors of the Battle of Atlanta, died Sunday in Gainesville, Texas, at the age of 95, it was learned here yesterday.

A great-grandson of Major William Davis, of Revolutionary War fame, he was born in Heard county in a two-story log cabin, which still stands. He studied by candle light and light from lightwood knots.

At 15, he misrepresented his age to join the Confederate Army. Small of stature, he served under General Joseph E. Johnston as a small boy and water boy. He thought General Johnston was one of the greatest men that ever lived.

Escaped Death.
He liked to relate an experience at the Battle of Murfreesboro. He was on the front line picking up mail and had got an unusually heavy load when Yankee bullets began zinging by his ears.

Mr. Davis said the bag was "light as a feather" until he ran out of the danger zone, and then he was forced to stop, unable to carry it another step.

During the Battle of Atlanta the Confederates were crossing the railroad near Jonesboro under heavy Yankee fire. Mr. Davis escaped death by breaking rank. His marching companion was killed.

Practiced Law.
After the War between the States Mr. Davis moved to Gainesville, where he established a law office in a small log cabin. A replica of his office was shown at the Texas Centennial Exposition.

Always interested in politics but never a candidate himself, Mr. Davis finally was "drafted" as mayor of Gainesville when he was 84 years old.

On his visits to Georgia he always went out to the Cyclorama. On one occasion, the guide, finding that Mr. Davis was well informed about the Battle of Atlanta, asked him to stay after the lecture and tell him more about the battle.

Mr. Davis is survived by his wife; a daughter, Mrs. Perry Wilson, of Peoria, Ill.; a son, Owen Davis, of Chicago, Ill., and a nephew, H. H. Davis, of Atlanta.

Labor Pledges Full Support to Top Production

First Day of War Finds Industry Virtually Free of Strikes.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—(P)—Labor pledged itself tonight to a smashing production effort to defeat Japan and the first day of war found the United States virtually free of strikes in defense industries.

Assurances came from both the CIO and the AFL that every effort would be made to avert work stoppages, while John L. Lewis, head of the CIO United Mine Workers, said in New York that when the nation is attacked every American must rally to its support.

He asserted in a statement that he joined in the support of the government "to the day of its ultimate triumph over Japan and all other enemies."

No-Strike Policy.
William Green, president of the AFL, said American workers would now "produce as the workers of no other nation have ever produced and they will keep steadfastly on the job of supplying our armed forces with the munitions of war until final victory and final peace are won."

From Philip Murray, president of the CIO, came an appeal for full co-operation of all elements "in the production of the weapons of war and other materials needed for the success of our national effort." CIO members, he added, were "eager to supply the best possible weapons in the greatest quantity with the least delay."

Murray spoke over the National Broadcasting Company's Blue Network.

Both Green and Murray, hitting at the Smith Anti-Strike bill passed by the house last week, said that legislation was unnecessary to assure continued production. But there were demands in the senate for action on one or more of the various anti-strike proposals before that chamber.

Picture Bright.
The strike picture was the brightest in weeks. Only one major threat was before government mediation agencies and no walk-out date had been set for that one.

An independent welders union, not affiliated with the AFL or CIO, renewed a strike call which it had rescinded yesterday, but appealed to the United States Conciliation Service for intervention before deciding when to call its men out.

The union, claiming 125,000 members, has been involved for some time in a dispute with the AFL. Today's strike warning, it said, was issued after AFL workmen had refused to permit members of the independent plant construction jobs at Morgantown, W. Va.

A. W. V. S. To Open Office Midst Mounting Patriotism

By SALLY FORTH.

APPROPRIATE TODAY—as never before, perhaps—because American patriotism has been fired to the zenith by the rain of Japanese bombs, comes the announcement of the official opening of the new home of the American Women's Volunteer Services. The opening is scheduled for this afternoon at 16 Auburn avenue.

Open house will be held between the hours of 4 and 7 o'clock, when several hundred defense-minded Atlantans will call to inspect the new headquarters and to see the display of hand-made articles made by Georgia's rural women from Georgia products.

More than half of this city's feminine population is already engaged in activity on behalf of defense—and today, aroused by righteous indignation, several hundred additional workers are expected to volunteer their services.

The colorful red, white and blue invitations issued for today's affair are certain to inspire an overwhelming and wholehearted response. Typed in red and blue ink on white paper, they read:

THE WAYS AND MEANS COMMITTEE OF A. W. V. S.
Have planned for you an open house.

And want you for their guest. Please gather 'round on Tuesday, then.

The ninth day of December from four to seven—now, MARK IT DOWN, So surely you'll remember!

Mrs. Trammell Scott, chairman of the Atlanta unit, A. W. V. S., and her co-chairmen, Mesdames Donald Hastings, Oscar Palmour, Ralph McGill and Wilmer Dutton, will receive the guests. Mrs. Clifford Ragsdale is chairman of the open house, and Mrs. O. W. Miller is her co-chairman.

Mrs. Scott has announced that all women desiring to register for training in first aid, diet, canteen and ambulance corps work may do so at once by calling at headquarters.

SALLY ALWAYS gets a thrill when Louella Parsons writes about someone from Atlanta. Last week in her column about the bigwigs of Hollywood, she turned the spotlight upon Margaret (Mrs. Frank) Freeman, who had just returned to California after a visit to her mother, Mrs. J. H. Harris, at 1503 Peachtree.

Louella, it seems, ran across Margaret at luncheon at Romanoff's, and this is what she wrote: "Mrs. Y. Frank Freeman, back from a visit to Atlanta and New York, was lunching with ZaSu Pitts and some other friends and was looking very New York. After we talked with her, Jules Stein, with whom I was lunching, said her accent was more southern than ever. I maintain it's the cutest accent in Hollywood."

Now, isn't that a nice compliment? Intensive instruction courses have been arranged by the Atlanta Chapter of the American Red Cross for women between the ages of 18 and 50 who are willing to give their services as volunteer nurses' aides. If you have time and an aptitude for nursing, why not enroll?

GAY AND colorful holly sprigs and mistletoe clusters drawn in red ink on green folders form the attractive invitations chosen by Andy Dumas for the tea-dance she will give for debutantes Caroline Yundt and Sally Spencer on Christmas afternoon.

Andy's "tea dansant" will take place at Brookhaven, the Capital City Country Club, between the hours of 4 and 6 o'clock. Mrs. Hal S. Dumas will assist her daughter in entertaining the several hundred members of the younger social contingent who will be in attendance.

KEEKEE NEWTON had a terrifying dream the night before she made her debut, which caused her to awaken her mother and beg her to do something about it in the morning.

Keekee dreamed she received only two lonesome little roses on the day she made her bow at the Piedmont Driving Club. Mrs. Howell Newton tried to console her pretty daughter by telling her not to worry, because they could rent some flowers from florists if it proved necessary.

When the party came off on Thanksgiving Day, so many admiring friends sent orchids, baskets and bouquets of flowers to Keekee that wire frames and tables had to be arranged to display the wealth of floral beauty.

This proves conclusively the time-worn expression, that dreams go by contrary.

GLIMPSED around the town: Glenn Darwin, baritone of the Metropolitan Opera Company, singing "Old Man River" at the Mirador Room of the Capital City Club at the luncheon hour. . . Dorothy Grove, daughter of Mrs. Lon Grove who was hostess at luncheon for a group of opera singers, dancing with Joseph Victor Laderoute, Canadian opera singer. . . Mrs. Charlie Cox and young daughter, Grace, buying Christmas tree decorations. . . Frances Boykin (Mrs. Bill) Barnett dining at the Mirador Room with a group of Junior League "buddies". . . Virginia Dulaney looking very lovely in a pale pink evening dress and pink gloves at the Driving Club. . . Mrs. McKee Nunnally and Walter Candler winning the defense bonds at the

Georgia Merit Board Studies Welfare Ouster

Mountain Politics Given Airing at Hearing Held Here.

Mountain politics got an airing yesterday before the State Merit Board as that body took under advisement the case of Miss Irene Moore, ousted welfare director of Lumpkin county.

Although the hearing was held behind closed doors, Miss Moore said she told the board the charges against her were brought by Sheriff Joe Davis, of Lumpkin county, Talmadge follower, and political foe of her uncles, G. H. and J. H. Moore, both of Dahlonega.

"Joe Davis made the statement that he was going to get all the Moores dismissed," Miss Moore said.

Davis previously had been accused of getting Governor Talmadge to fire P. D. Bush, former professor at the North Georgia College—one of the dismissals in the University System which brought the wrath of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

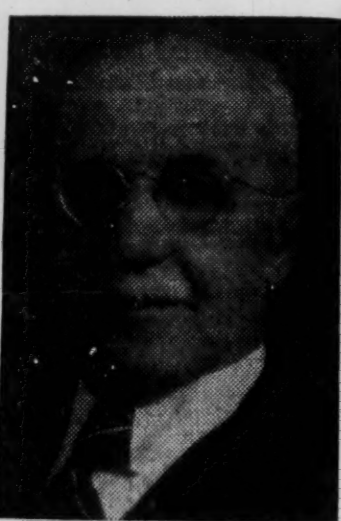

No Criticism. The dismissed director said she had not been served a copy of the charges against her, but that Director B. S. Miller had told her there was no criticism of her work and had vaguely offered to transfer her to another county.

"If I am guilty of failing to discharge my duties, why was I offered another county?" she asked. Miss Moore further charged Director Miller had refused to furnish her with a transcript of the evidence taken at a hearing before him on October 7 before she was dismissed.

She declared yesterday she did not want her job back in Lumpkin county but only wanted to be exonerated of the charges and have her name placed on the merit system register.

Her uncle, G. H. Moore, representative from Lumpkin county, appeared before the board. Mrs. W. L. Ash, chairman of the Lumpkin welfare board, and H. B. Smith, hotel proprietor, also testified in her behalf.

Capable Worker. "Miss Moore is as capable and high-type worker as you'll find anywhere in Georgia and I don't believe she is influenced by her

Right of Press To Criticize Courts Upheld

Respect for Judiciary Not Enhanced by Gag, Says Ruling.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—(AP)—The supreme court today upheld the right of the press and public to criticize the courts at any stage of their work.

In a long-awaited decision reversing contempt citations against the Los Angeles Times and Harry Bridges, the tribunal ruled that it makes no difference whether the case under criticism is technically pending at the time, so long as the comment does not constitute a "substantial" or "serious" danger to the impartial functioning of the judge.

It found no such danger in three editorials published by the Los Angeles Times in 1937 and 1938 commenting on the convictions of persons who had not yet been sentenced; or in a telegram sent by Bridges, west coast CIO leader, to Secretary of Labor Perkins in 1938 denouncing a California court decision in a labor case and threatening a strike while a petition for rehearing was pending. (The telegram was released to the press.)

Black Writes Opinion. The court split five to four on the issue, with Justice Black writing the majority opinion. Chief Justice Stone and Justices Roberts and Byrnes agreed with a dissenting opinion by Justice Frankfurter who held that "California, speaking through its courts," concluded that the comments "undermined the conditions necessary for fair adjudication" and therefore had a right to punish them.

"We are, after all, sitting over 3,000 miles away from a great state without intimate knowledge of its habits and its needs," Frankfurter wrote.

But Black's opinion cited "the sweeping constitutional mandate against any law 'abridging the freedom of speech or of the press.'"

Another decision upheld, on a 7-2 division, the conviction of Robert S. James in the so-called Los Angeles "rattlesnake murder" in 1936. James was accused of drowning his wife to collect her insurance after having failed to kill her by having a snake bite her. The live snakes were introduced at his trial and James contended that this prejudiced the jury.

Details of Ruling. The court's decision in the press freedom case laid down the principle that any danger of interfering with the administration of justice by criticizing a court "must be extremely serious and the degree of imminence extremely high before utterances can be punished."

The first amendment to the constitution forbidding abridgment of freedom of speech or the press "must be taken as a command of the broadest scope that explicit language, read in the context of a liberty-loving society, will allow," the majority opinion declared.

Criticism of a court cannot be prescribed merely because the case under discussion is pending, it added, since "the pendency" of a case is frequently a matter of months or even years rather than days or weeks.

Moreover, it said, "the assumption that respect for the judiciary can be won by shielding judges from published criticism wrongly appraises the character of American public opinion."

used for today, has been postponed because of the inability of Attorney General Francis Biddle to leave Washington, Warden Joseph W. Sanford said yesterday.

Chinese in U. S. Want No Identification Errors

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Chinese Consul T. K. Chang said today Chinese in America are designing a lapel button which will show the nationality of the wearer. "This is being done," he said, "to save the Chinese from embarrassment and mistaken identity."

At Seattle, Dr. Kiang Yiaseng, Chinese consul, said he had ordered identification cards for all Seattle Chinese to distinguish them from Japanese.

Parties Continue For Debutantes

Among additional parties planned for popular debutantes is the luncheon at which Mrs. William Huger will be hostess on January 16 in compliment to Miss Mary Ellen Orme.

The party at which Miss Donata Horne was to have entertained on December 14 for Miss Mary Frances Broach has been postponed until a later date.

Assembling a large number of the married and unmarried social contingent was the tea at which Mrs. Herbert Oliver entertained yesterday afternoon at her Pine Valley road home in compliment to Miss Margaret Harmon, one of the most widely feted debutantes of the season.

The hostess and honor guests received standing in the drawing room of the home, where spikes of colorful gladioli were grouped to form an artistic background for them.

Assisting in entertaining were Mesdames Felix de Golan Sr., George Bland Sr., James Malone, Julian Thomas, P. G. Sanford and Howard Harmon, mother of the debutante.

The tea table was overlaid with an imported Chinese cloth, and adorned with a bronze and crystal epergne holding a salmon pink gladioli.

Yesterday at the luncheon hour Miss Carolyn Reed was honored by Mrs. Olin Cofer, who entertained at her home on Lullwater road.

The table in the dining room was arranged with ivy and berries in an effective Christmas motif. Green and red arrangements were used in the living rooms and dining room. Mrs. Clinton S. Reed, mother of the honor guest, assisted in entertaining.

Covers were placed for Misses Reed, Mary Hodgson, Virginia Dunlany, Sallie Cobb Johnson, Mimi Pappenheimer, Margaret Harmon, Virginia Richardson, Caroline Yundt and Myrtle Durham.

Cut Needless Phone Calls, Army Urges

If it's not necessary—don't telephone any Army, Navy or other important armed service agency. This request was made yesterday.

Fort McPherson was especially eager in urging that needless calls be omitted, but its attacks were warmly seconded by other defense office staffs.

Virtually every telephone line leading to a defense office was swamped all day. Most of the calls, it was declared, were needless and interfered with transactions of pressing affairs.

Variety Selects 11 New Directors

MRS. HEYS EDWARD McMATH JR.

Miss Brown Becomes Bride Of Heys Edward McMath Jr.

LYONS, Ga., Dec. 8.—Miss Freida Brown, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Bonnie McCoy Brown, became the bride of Heys Edward McMath Jr., of Americus and Vidalia, at 6 o'clock on Saturday evening, November 22, at the Baptist church. Rev. J. D. Rabun, assisted by Rev. Charles Maples, performed the ring ceremony in the presence of an assemblage of friends and relatives.

Groomsmen included: Charles Adams, of Vidalia; William McMath, of Lyons; W. B. McMath, of Americus; and David Jennings Jr., of Americus. Bridesmaids were Misses Carolyn Talley, of Miami; Edith Chappell, of Richland; Louise Chapman, of Sandersville, and Martha Ramsey, of Evans. The bridegroom's sister, Miss Anne McMath, of Americus, and Miss Frances Tucker, of Lyons, were junior bridesmaids, and Mrs. J. M. Jerard served as matron of honor. They wore pastel gowns of tulle, styled with extremely full skirts and fitted bodices, accented by touches of gold braid. They wore flowers in their hair to match their gowns and carried cascade bouquets of chrysanthemums and gladioli.

Miss Chappell and Miss Talley wore blue; Miss Chapman and Miss Ramsey were attired in dusty rose; Miss McMath and Miss Tucker wore pale pink, and the matron of honor's gown was of orchid.

The youthful bride entered with her father, by whom she was given in marriage. The groom's best man was his brother, George Riley McMath, of Americus.

The bride was radiantly lovely in a gown of white duchesse satin, fashioned on princess lines, the voluminous skirt lengthening to form a graceful fan-shaped train. The gown was trimmed with a medallion of rare lace, used by the groom's mother on her wedding dress; and her only ornament was a necklace, which has been in the bride's family more than two centuries. Her billowy veil of illusion was caught to her dark hair with a heart-shaped bonnet of Chantilly lace, centered with a cluster of orange blossoms. She carried a cascade bouquet of gardenias and tuberose.

The bride's mother was becomingly attired in a gown of rose crepe, studded in silver beads across the shoulders and down the sleeves. Her flowers were gardenias. The groom's mother was charming in a gown of black princess lace posed over pale pink chiffon, styled with insets of the chiffon in the long full skirt. Her flowers were a cluster of Briar-cliff roses. The groom's grandmother, Mrs. R. L. McMath Sr., of Americus, was attired in a gown of black crepe, studded in jet and silver beads. Her flowers were red roses.

The bride's parents were hosts at a beautiful reception at their home following the ceremony.

The bride's book was kept by Miss Mary Elizabeth Moor, of Americus, S. C., and Mrs. Charles Maples.

Mr. McMath and his bride left on a wedding trip and will reside in Vidalia, where he is connected with Proctor and Gamble Company.

Latin America Rallies to U.S. In Jap Conflict

Conference of 21 Nations Reported Approved by U. S.

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Chile announced tonight that the United States had accepted her suggestion for a conference of all 21 American foreign ministers to adopt a common policy against Japan, and Latin American nations rallied quickly to the side of the United States.

Seven Latin American republics already have declared war on Japan. Argentina, Uruguay, Colombia and apparently Brazil were ready to allow U. S. warships the use of their ports for the war, and Uruguay announced that privilege also would be extended to the British or any other nation, American or European, that accompanies the United States in "the defense against aggression."

Brazil seconded Chile's suggestion for the Pan-American conference, but Oswaldo Aranha, foreign minister, said his country did not at present plan a declaration of war against Japan.

Oswaldo Aranha, Brazilian foreign minister, suggested that the United States initiate a conference of foreign ministers of all South American nations, and said Brazil advocated such a conference.

No Declaration. When asked if Brazil planned a declaration of war against Japan, Aranha said "no," adding that "our attitude is one of full co-operation in the Pan-American system and fulfillment of our agreements."

The United States can count on Brazil to do her part.

Seven countries, Costa Rica, Honduras, Guatemala, El Salvador, Haiti, Nicaragua, and the Dominican Republic, declared war on Japan.

President Batista of Cuba and his cabinet both asked the national congress to declare war on Japan and both houses will act on the proposals at 4 p. m. tomorrow.

Panama Co-operates. As the United States instituted a wartime guard over the vital Panama Canal Zone, neighboring Panama affirmed its co-operation and decided to intern all Japanese residents in the isthmus.

Panama decreed the freezing of all Japanese funds and assets. In this capital, meanwhile, Argentine Foreign Minister Enrique Ruiz Guinazu conferred with United States Ambassador Norman Armour, who gave him details of the Japanese attack.

Ruiz Guinazu also heard from Japan's ambassador, Baron Shu Tomii, what he said was a long list of Japanese "justifications."

The foreign minister also had appointments to confer with the ambassadors of Peru and Colombia, neither of which has taken an avowed stand and said he would talk by telephone with the foreign minister of Uruguay.

Hull Praises Chile. Diplomatic sources said Uruguay probably would take the initiative in proposing consultation of all American governments as provided under the Panama convention for continental solidarity.

Foreign Minister Juan Rossett of Chile notified the United States that Chile has adopted extraordinary defense measures in keeping with hemispheric solidarity and today he received a reply from Secretary of State Hull expressing "sincere appreciation of the hearty spirit of continental collaboration which Chile has demonstrated."

Sentiment for the United States swept Central and South America. Colombians with placards demanding "War Against Japan" demonstrated before the U. S. embassy in Bogota and an authoritative informant said there would be a declaration of solidarity with Washington. The question of a war declaration, however, has not been discussed, he said.

The consulate of the Dominican Republic in New York said former President Rafael Leonidas Trujillo had asked the congress for a war declaration against Japan.

Mexican Cabinet Meets. Diplomatic sources in Santiago said Chile's sympathies had been shown to lie with the United States and her Pan-American commitments.

President Manuel Avila Camacho, of Mexico, hastily returning to Mexico City, met urgently with his cabinet to decide Mexico's first formal step which, it was expected, would be a break in diplomatic relations with Japan.

The Peruvian cabinet also met to ponder the Japanese attacks. The Lima press warned that the hemisphere must stand with the United States for the interests of the whole continent.

Uruguayan Defense Minister Julio Roletti asserted that the outbreak of war in the Pacific meant that Uruguay would have to expedite her arms purchases from the United States and prepare to defend her soil and contribute to hemispheric defense.

13 Injured in Fire. At Norfolk Naval Base NORFOLK, Va., Dec. 8.—(AP)—Thirteen men were severely injured from fire and an explosion in the new and still incomplete administration building at the Norfolk naval operating base late this afternoon.

All were civilian employees and the public relations office for the fifth naval district said there was no appearance of sabotage in the fire and explosion, which occurred during an acetylene welding operation in the basement of the west wing of the building.

Wartime Bans On Information Invoked by U.S.

Heavy Penalties Ordered for Violating Censorship Rules.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—(AP)—War-time bans on disclosure of information deemed of possible value to the enemy were invoked today by the Navy and Army.

The Navy disclosed it would enforce the Espionage Act of 1918 providing heavy penalties for willful disclosure of such information.

The War Department extended its ban on military information to include information relating to the routes, schedules and destinations of troop movements within or without the continental United States.

In a memorandum to the press, the Department said: "Information tending to disclose the number of troops, designation of units and disposition of forces overseas is restricted."

"Information as to movements of transports within or without territorial waters is restricted."

"Casualty lists will, if possible, include home addresses, but will not include designation of units."

Defense News Banned. Jesse Jones, administrator, said today the Federal Loan Agency would discontinue releasing information on all defense subjects, including contracts for new defense plants in this country.

Such information, he said, might be useful to enemies. The U. S. Maritime Commission asked that nothing be published or disseminated "concerning the movement, position, cargo or destination of any merchant vessel in any waters."

In describing to newsmen how the Navy expected to restrict war news, Rear Admiral Arthur J. Hepburn, chief of the Bureau of Public Relations, said news coverage would proceed on the voluntary censorship basis adopted after the outbreak of hostilities in Europe but would be backed up with enforcement under the espionage law.

All outgoing cables, he said, were under censorship and cables from Hawaii and the Philippines were being censored at the source.

Casualty List Delayed. Outgoing short-wave broadcasts, he said, were under the supervision of William Donovan, co-ordinator of the office of intelligence.

As for casualties in Hawaii, estimated by President Roosevelt to total 3,000, Hepburn said it probably would be several days before the Navy could announce the names.

He said the Navy would not release any list until relatives had been notified and names had been carefully checked and certified by the Bureau of Navigation.

The press relations chief also requested American newspapers to refrain from publishing, without clearance by the Navy, stories from members of crews or their families. He said the Navy would ask that the use of the names of ships for naval units be withheld because they would identify naval movements.

Furthermore, he said stories from relatives of crew members naming ships should not be used until the Navy Department announced the name of the ship involved.

Red Cross To Get Theater's Profits

Operators of the Emory Theater announced last night all profits derived from the operation of the theater would be given to the American Red Cross for an indefinite period.

Mr. and Mrs. Danny Demetry, operators, announced their decision in an advertisement appearing in this morning's editions of The Constitution. It read:

"War is declared! Our answer to the enemies of our country. All profits from the operation of the Emory theater will be given the American Red Cross, effective immediately and for an indefinite period."

2 Young Boys Indicted In Slaying of Attorney

LEESBURG, Va., Dec. 8.—(AP)—A Loudoun county grand jury indicted Paul Bernard Hoback and Herbert Buck Porter, 16-year-old boys, today on a charge of murder in the robbery-slaying of Ward Loveless, Washington attorney, at his Leesburg estate the night of November 23.

The trial date was set for January 9.

The boys were arrested in Appalachee, Va., four days after Loveless' body, shot and beaten, was found stuffed into a closet in his home.

Georgia Farm Of 500 Acres Owned by Japs

Mayfair Plantation in Camden County Operated by Nipponese.

Special to THE CONSTITUTION. BRUNSWICK, Ga., Dec. 8.—The status of four Japs, operators of Mayfair plantation, on the Sattilla river in Camden county, between Woodbine and White Oak, was undetermined tonight as their attorney in Brunswick advised them this afternoon to remain on the premises.

The lettuce farm they operate is part of the estate of the late P. C. Brown, of Camden county, but the Japs own 500 acres themselves, besides operating 300 acres for the estate.

The Japanese have been at Mayfair three years, but one Jap is American born and two others have been in the United States 35 years. One's family is in Seattle, another is in Jacksonville Beach.

Corporal Greer, of the local State Patrol office, said prior to the crisis, the Japs had been fingerprinted.

Officers have not yet entered the estate, it is reported, but are keeping surveillance at a distance.

FIVE JAPANESE OUTSIDE ATLANTA

Only five Japanese nationals residing in Georgia, outside Fulton county, were reported to the State Defense Corps yesterday, it was stated in Atlanta.

Four were listed in Camden county and one in Thomas county. The latter was said to be "under surveillance at his residence."

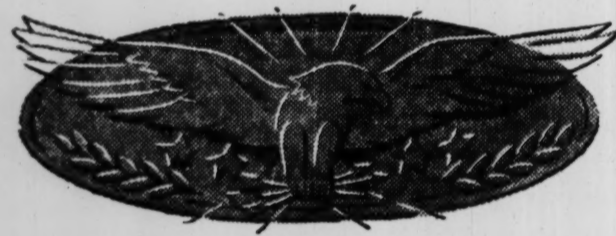

Major E. Paul Hodges, of Eastman, reporting for his district, said no Japanese had been discovered, but that there are "three known Nazis in Sumter county doing dirty work. We want them. Advise."

Major Oren Warren, adjutant, said the information would be turned over to the FBI.

It is reported that during some seasons there are as many as 10 Japs at Mayfair.

The lettuce farm, in season, is a showplace for this section.

Individual Casseroles Flatter the Guest

By Sally Saver.

Individual casseroles carry the pleasing assurance that this was made "just for you." All kinds of creamy foods combine well in individual dishes to make either the main dish or the accompanying vegetable. The small casseroles pictured, which feature whole kernel corn, will be found particularly tasty when served with broiled or baked ham or Canadian bacon. Baked or stewed fruit will be fine with this meal. To make the casserole, follow these easy directions:

Corn Casseroles.

3 tablespoons margarine
3 tablespoons green pepper, cut in thin strips
1 tablespoon onion, chopped
3 tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
1 teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
3 cups cooked or canned whole kernel corn
Buttered bread crumbs

Cook green pepper and onion in the margarine over low heat until vegetables are soft. Place over hot water, add flour and blend. Add milk gradually and cook, stirring until thickened. Add salt, pepper and corn and pour into buttered individual casseroles. Cover with buttered bread crumbs (1-2 cup crumbs mixed with 1-4 cup melted margarine). Bake in moderately hot oven, 375 degrees, about 25 minutes. Makes 6 small casseroles.

Questions about foods, recipes, cooking and serving will be answered by Sally Saver. Write or phone The Constitution, W.A. 6565.

Today's Charm Tip

Young People: Don't lord it over others because through your good luck (not through your own management) you happen to have had "college," a better "background," a better car.

Individual casseroles have party airs, but, in this case, the emphasis is on economy.

'King Arthur's Knights' in Full Color Is Latest Venture in Movie Cartoons

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—(INS)—Movie cartoons are getting bigger and better. Not only is Walt Disney postponing everything to get "Peter Pan" under way, but along comes Hugh Harman, formerly of Harman-Ising, announcing a full-length color feature of "King Arthur's Knights." Several studios planned the round-table adventures with real actors against actual backgrounds, but with the world topsy-turvy the obstacles are too great. Besides, real people could never convey the fairy-tale charm of the cartoon drawings or make King Arthur, Guinevere, Sir Gareth, Lunette, Sir Modred and the others so "real" to the youngsters. Would like to stage a one-woman campaign that Hollywood pay real tribute to these artists like Disney, Harman and Leon Schlesinger, who give the world such perfect entertainment with their color cartoons. With the legion of decency once again in arms about suggestiveness in certain films, these boys are a credit to the industry with the clean productions which young and old can see and enjoy.

There won't be a single woo-woo out of Hugh Herbert when he checks in at Paramount for the role of Mr. Stubbins in "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch." Hugh is definitely through with his comedy chortle because he says it typed him—soo it's too woo-woo as far as he's concerned. (Can I help it if the New York weather is making me playful?) The Stubbins part is equally important to Mrs. Wiggs with Lillian Gish making tests for the cabbage patch heroine Mendeny. It will be interesting to see how the fans react to a woo-woolless Herbert. The last time I saw him in a picture the fans yelled "woo-woo" before Hugh opened his mouth.

George Raft is a very unhappy boy. He came east to discuss his contract difficulties with Major Albert Warner. They had lunch but nothing was settled and the major promised to see George the next day but when George called he was told that the major had gone to the coast. Meanwhile, George was grounded, because of bad weather and fit to be tied. He has offers to go to Universal and several other jobs and he wants either to get his freedom from Warner's or make a picture for them.

CHATTER FROM HOLLYWOOD: Clara Bow and Rex Bell blew into town to celebrate their tenth wedding anniversary. When the two were married no one gave them a chance. Clara had been so unhappy and had so much trouble. I never believed it when she said she was giving up her career to live on a ranch with Rex for the rest of her life—which shows how cynical columnists can become. But the Bells are really a revelation. Everyone who saw them says Clara looks wonderful again. She's almost as thin as when Elinor Glynn labeled her the "it" girl—and if she wanted a movie job—which she doesn't because she's too busy bringing up the two husky Bell children, she could certainly get it.

MY DAY: Now We Know Where We Are

By Eleanor Roosevelt.

WASHINGTON, Sunday.—I was going out in the hall to say good-bye to our cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Adams, and their children, after luncheon, and as I stepped out of my room, I knew something had happened. All the secretaries were there, two telephones were in use, the senior military aides were on their way with messages. I said nothing because the words I heard over the telephone were quite sufficient to tell me that, finally, the blow had fallen, and we had been attacked.

Attacked in the Philippines, in Hawaii, and on the ocean between San Francisco and Hawaii. Our people had been killed not suspecting there was an enemy, who attacked in the usual ruthless way which Hitler has prepared us to suspect.

Because our nation has lived up to the rules of civilization, it will probably take us a few days to catch up with our enemy, but no one in this country will doubt the ultimate outcome. None of us can help but regret the voice which Japan has made, but having made it, she has taken on a coalition of enemies she must underestimate; unless she believes we have sadly deteriorated since our first ships sailed into her harbor.

The clouds of uncertainty and anxiety have been hanging over us for a long time. Now we know where we are. The work for those who are at home seems to be obvious. First, to do our own job, whatever it is, as well as we can possibly do. Second, to add to it everything we can do in the way of civilian defense. Now, at last, every community must go to work to build up protections from attack.

We must build up the best possible community services, so that all of our people may feel secure because they know we are standing together and that whatever problems have to be met will be met by the community, and not one lone individual. There is no weakness and insecurity when once this is understood.

Too Much Attention Makes Boy Wary

Dear Dixie:

I had dated a boy for six months until about a month ago, when he stopped coming to see me, without any reason at all. I still like him very much and want to know if I should send him something for Christmas. I am not expecting anything from him.

While I was dating him, I refused to date another boy whom I shall call Jim. Since Jim knew I liked Bill so much, we decided to be just friends and have dates every now and then. I would like to date Jim now. He lives near me, but is in college in the adjoining state. How can I get him interested in me again?

By all means drop Jim a note and base it upon interest on how he is getting along and ask him when he is coming home for Christmas. Tell him that with the holidays so near, that you know that there will be a lot going on, but that you hope he can work in some time during the holidays to come by and see your Christmas tree, or have some fruit cake and punch. By all means do not tell him that you want him back now that Bill has deserted you. Boys do not like to be second choice. You will have to be rather careful and adroit about Jim, so that he will not see that you are trying to gain his favor again. I think you can work it if you do not appear too anxious nor too enthusiastic about having dates with him again. As for Bill, do not send him a gift. A card would be sufficient. My advice to you is to make no move to see him.

COMPETITION WILL MAKE BOY TAKE NOTICE

Dear Dixie: I have been going with a man for nearly two years. About three months ago he started going with another girl. I know he said he loved both of us, and could not make up his mind which one of us he wanted to marry. When he is with her, he wants to marry her, and when he is with me he wants to marry me. Do you think he loves both of us?

I love him and I am sure I will never love another man as I do him, but he is not exactly the type of person I have always wanted to marry. I am sure I could win him from this girl if I tried a little. Should I? I just do not want this blonde to get him. I have been living with my aunt, about 35 miles from my home, for five weeks. He lives near by. When I am not at home he dates the blonde. When I am at home with mother he dates me all the time.

UNDECIDED GIRL: Since this young man is not the type you wish to marry, I think if I were you I would forget the love angle and go on with him and have a nice time. Remember you do not have to be in love with every boy you date.

If you want to win him from the other girl, why not try? As for going back home to live in order to date him, it seems to me that the possibility of residing with your own mother would prompt your actions, rather than the desire to date him. If you get yourself another beau to create some competition, I think that you would impress him a great deal more.

Beautiful Posture Must Be Habitual

By Ida Jean Kain.

You are counting on looking simply divine for the Christmas festivities. You will don your favorite formal gown and put on your party posture and you will look just elegant—for about an hour! You can't hold a pose all evening. That special occasion posture is too uncomfortable to last.

To be at ease in beautiful posture, you have to make a habit of it. The time to start is now and the starting point is your head carriage. If you want to turn heads as you enter a room, cultivate the habit of holding your head high. Analyze the posture of any distinguished looking woman and you will see how true that is. Concentrate on the line at the back of the neck and stretch it perfectly straight but keep the chin level. That tends to reflexly contract the lower abdominal wall, pull the hips into line, and lift the chest. In fact, it gives the whole figure a lift.

Test this for yourself. Sit sideways to a mirror, curls pinned up off the nape of your neck. Now, hold your chin level as you straighten the nape of neck line. See how this automatically pulls your figure into better alignment?

You want to hold yourself erect without tension, so keep the shoulders relaxed. Elevating them makes for tension and awkwardness. Your golden rule for posture then is: "Head high, chin level, shoulders relaxed."

To help matters along, practice this posture trick: Stand erect and are arms overhead, interlacing fingers and turning palms up to ceiling. Now with nape-of-neck line straight, chin level, stretch through the midsection and pull up with the lower abdominal muscles and down with the hips. Walk on tiptoes back and forth the full length of the room for five minutes.

After that, flop forward at waist, letting head, arms and trunk dangle limply toward floor. Shrug your shoulders loose and limber as you straighten the trunk and stand erect. Repeat several times.

Finish your posture workout by lying on back on floor, face to ceiling, and flex both knees and hug to chest. Hold that position for two or three minutes. These last two posture poses are very effective in correcting sway back.

A gay dirndl frock with a trim waistline is a favored style among the younger set. The one shown above is in green taffeta with bands of velvet in a darker shade of green. It's just the kind of dress to be at its best during all the parties of the coming holiday season.

Make This Your Holiday Dress

The gala afternoons and evenings through the coming holiday season will be that much more fun when you, too, own a gay, dirndl frock—tight through the waist, full and flaring in the skirt. And this is a dress—easy-to-make—if you will take advantage of the new sewing machine attachments which make completing the dress very simple. Go to the sewing center in your locality and learn how you can give the dress the professional finish you want it to have.

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—(AP)
U. S.-Japanese war in the Pacific touched off a sharp decline in securities markets today, but the most common theme was that the opening depressed leaders one to three points. Bidding then came in on the theory the price was in the hands of the market, hovering around the bottom, might have led to some extent the latest international upset.

Blocks of 1,000 to 6,000 shares or so changed hands in rapid succession at the start. Dealings soon slowed as recovery was resumed after mid-day as Congress voted all-out war on Japan and it was indicated casualties at Hawaii were much greater than first reported. While extreme declines were trimmed in many cases at the last, final losses ranged from one to better than five points.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off 17 points at 38.1, a new low since June 10, last year, and the widest day's drop since May 10, 1940, when it was the broadest since May 22 a year ago.

Whirly Noses Alsab; Voted Horse of Year

Wright's Colt 13th in 20 Races.

By SID FEDER.

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—(AP)—In the tightest photo finish the race has ever boasted, Whirly Noses out Alsab today to become the horse of the year for 1941.

Balloting in the Turf and Sports Digest's annual poll, the nation's sports experts picked Warren Wright's long-tailed red rocket by six votes over the sensational two-year-old who was bid in as a $700 yearling bargain by Al Sabatin last year.

For his performance in taking 13 out of 20 races, earning $272,386, becoming the fifth triple crown winner in all racing history and boosting his money winnings to where he now stands as a distinct threat to the all-time record, Whirly was named on 96 of the 195 ballots. Alsab, flashing to victory in his last 10 starts and piling up a bankroll of $110,600 in his first year of racing, drew 99 nominations. Not another galloper got more than three votes.

ALSAB COLT KING.

Naturally, each was named to head his respective division by a lop-sided margin. Whirlyway as king of the three-year-olds and Alsab as boss of the two-year-olds. Petrify, a speedy miss who came home on top in six of her nine outings, easily gave Alf Vandebilt the two-year-old filly championship for the second time in three years.

Mrs. E. S. Moore's Big Pebble, sturdy five-year-old winner of the Widener, the Hollywood Gold Cup and the Washington Park Handicap, was tabbed best of the handicappers in a closer race with Charley Howard's Midland and George D. Widener's Eight Thirty.

NO CONTEST.

For Whirlyway and Alsab it was strictly no contest in their divisions. The Kentucky sky-rocket ran the fastest Kentucky Derby in that classic 67-year history, never finished out of the money during the year and now is at Santa Anita to shoot at the $100,000 handicap. He compiled 559 points to 318 for Market Wise, Lou Tufano's Bargain, and 224 for Sam Riddle's War Relic, a son of Man O' War.

Alsab, who equaled or smashed records in New England, Chicago and New York, polled 584 points to 168 for another bargain buy, Requested, owned by Ben Whitaker, the Texas turfman. Third was Mrs. Payne Whitney's Devil Diver, with 124 votes.

All in the Game

BY JACK TROY

Bowl Defense It is a point in favor of the activity of such bowls as the Orange, Cotton and Sugar—not to mention lemon, lime and raspberry—that the Rose Bowl people seem to be carrying their feelings on their sleeves.

Now, I wouldn't say they are up in arms, after the popular mode of the day; but they are no longer sitting by and basking in the sunlight of a past glory. They are coming right out and saying theirs is the granddaddy of all the Bowls and that they'll continue to have the top attraction every year.

The latter assertion is a matter of opinion—after last year. The Sugar Bowl away down yonder in New Orleans stole a march by signing up the nation's only two unbeaten, untied eligibles—Boston College and Tennessee.

That's what brought the Rose Bowl people to attention, it seems. They now are defending their tradition against any ideas that maybe other Bowl attractions count. Which, of course, they do. And it is not original with me, at all, but competition is the life of trade.

Anyway, I had a letter the other day from Max Colwell, director of public relations for the Pasadena Tournament of Roses Association. I had written something in connection with the visit of Georgia Tech players as Rose Bowl spectators. (After the Jackets play California at Berkeley they're going to be guests at the Duke-Oregon State game.)

I had written figuratively about the ivy and literally about the lack of roses. In other words I had never been able to pluck a rose at the Rose Bowl on several visits to Pasadena. It seems also, in commenting about the west coast bowl, I unwittingly alluded to it as fast becoming "just another post-season intersectional scuffle."

Defends Honor Mr. Colwell defends the honor, huh, of Pasadena's big platter of New Year's Day football pulchritude in a letter that is unusually moderate in tone coming, as it does, from a hotbed of hot-headed defenders of coast supremacy in all matters from citrus fruit up to snow-capped mountains.

"Dear Mr. Troy:

"One of your constant readers has sent me a clipping from your interesting column in which you make comment on the Rose Bowl game.

"Whether or not it is 'just another post-season intersectional scuffle' as you say, is a matter of opinion. We, who of course are prejudiced in the matter, feel that the Rose Bowl game is the daddy of them all and will continue to rate top billing no matter how many imitators spring up throughout the country.

"Regarding the ivy and the lack of roses at the Rose Bowl—

Rams, Irish Both Beat 5 Outside Foes

However, Southwest Has Best Record for Country.

BY BILL BONI.

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Fordham's Rams and the undefeated team which Frank Leahy developed in his first year at Notre Dame compiled the best records in intersectional competition during the past football season, an Associated Press survey of major college performances throughout the country showed today.

Jimmy Crowley's Fordhams, who have a post-season intersectional date with Missouri in the Sugar Bowl, met five representative eleven from other parts of the land during their regular campaign, and whipped them all. That helped make it all the more startling when the Rams were handed their only defeat of the year by sub-par, often beaten Pittsburgh.

In order, Fordham's victims were Southern Methodist, North Carolina, Texas Christian (only team to beat Texas), Purdue and St. Mary's. That brought the Rams' five-year intersectional record to 14 victories, two ties (both in 1938, with Purdue and North Carolina), and three losses, excluding their Cotton Bowl defeat last January 1 by Texas A. and M.

WIN FIVE.

Notre Dame, largely on the magic arm of sophomore Angelo Bertelli's sure-shot passing, also won five, from Arizona, Georgia Tech, Carnegie Tech, Navy and Southern California, but was held to a scoreless tie by Army. The Irish, always among football's greatest travelers, have a five-year intersectional mark of 23 victories, four defeats and a tie.

In spite of the efforts of Fordham and Notre Dame, however, neither the east nor the midwest as units led the parade. This honor went to the southwest, with 14 victories and eight defeats for a percentage of .636. The midwest came next, with 23 and 19 for .548; then the south, with 24 and 20 for .545; and the east, with 27 and 30 for .474.

Weakest against teams from other parts were the Pacific coast and the Rocky Mountains. Coast teams, playing fewer intersectional dates than usual, won only two out of 10, while the mountain teams, which generally stay in their own area, lost on each of their five excursions outside it.

Besides Fordham and Notre Dame, teams undefeated intersectionally included Minnesota, winner over Washington and Pitt; Duquesne, the best of Marquette, St. Mary's and Mississippi State in its all-winning year; Duke, victor over Pitt and Colgate, and Texas, which topped Colorado, Louisiana State and Oklahoma.

Crusaders Pick Scanlon, Prep Team Veteran

WORCESTER, Mass., Dec. 8.—(AP)—Anthony J. Scanlon, coach of St. Joseph's Prep in Philadelphia for 14 years, tonight was appointed head football coach at Holy Cross College.

He succeeded Joe Sheeketski, Crusader coach for three years, who resigned earlier today. Athletic Director Thomas J. McCabe disclosed.

A graduate of St. Joseph's College in Philadelphia, where he was a halfback and captain in 1923, the 35-year-old Scanlon turned out six Catholic League champions at the Quaker city prep school.

Length of his Holy Cross contract and terms were not disclosed.

Feller To Make Decision Today

CHICAGO, Dec. 8.—(INS)—After conferring with Lieut. Commander Gene Tunney, Bobby Feller announced tonight that he would choose tomorrow between the Army and Navy and enlist shortly.

Arriving in Chicago, where the major league baseball meeting will start tomorrow, the young fastball pitcher went to the Great Lakes Naval Training Station for his second discussion within a week with Tunney, former heavyweight boxing champion and now physical training director for the Navy.

Friends said they believed it likely that Feller would choose the Naval Air Corps, for he already is a licensed pilot and his conferences with Tunney seemed to indicate his preference for that branch of the service.

Tulsa Plays Texas Tech

EL PASO, Tex., Dec. 8.—(INS)—Once-beaten Texas Tech will play Tulsa university in the 1942 Sun Bowl game at El Paso, it was announced tonight.

Officials of the annual game received word from Arizona University, border conference champions, that the players had declined to act as "host team" because of their season's heavy schedule.

Morley Jennings, Texas Tech athletic director, accepted the bid for his school and said practice would start immediately. Tech's only loss this year a 6-0 upset by Miami University.

Everett Strupper Is Elected Head of Touchdown Club

Muggsy Smith Named Vice President and Buck
Cheves Secretary of Organization.

By JOHNNY BRADBERRY.

Everett Strupper, ex-Georgia Tech football star, was elected president of the Atlanta Touchdown Club for 1942 at the annual business meeting at the Ansley yesterday.

Strupper, a past president, succeeds Huck Ebersole as head of the organization of football fans who meet every Monday during the gridiron season. Other officers included Muggsy Smith, first vice president; Fred Sing-ton, second vice president; Parks Hunt, treasurer, and Buck Cheves, secretary.

The club heard a report from its trophy committee and accepted its nomination for the annual trophy, awarded the most valuable man to his team in the Southeastern conference. The name of the player will be announced in the January 4 newspapers, just preceding the big party given annually by the club.

The night of Friday, January 16, was selected for the party and plans are under way to make it the best in the history of the club. Outstanding coaches and writers will attend in addition to the showing of two or three of the best "bowl" pictures.

Each member of the club will be allowed six tickets. The party will be limited to 400 members and guests, so anybody interested had better get in touch with a club member for his ticket.

Ebersole said it was possible to obtain pictures of all four major bowl games but that only two or three of them would be shown because of the time element. It was the last regular meeting of the season and the club stands adjourned until January 16.

Hartnett Named As Indian Pilot

CHICAGO, Dec. 8.—(INS)—

Gabby Hartnett, former manager of the Chicago Cubs, signed today as manager of the Indianapolis Indians, in the American Association.

The veteran catcher was released by the New York Giants late last season. He signed a one-year contract as player-manager for Indianapolis, but terms were not announced.

Hartnett will succeed Wade Killefer as pilot of the Indianapolis team.

Atlantan Chosen Tiger Co-Captain

SEWANE, Tenn., Dec. 8.—(AP)

Frank Walker, an end, will captain the Sewanee Tigers during the 1942 football season. Walker, a Birmingham youth and now a junior, was elected at the annual football banquet tonight.

Co-captains elected are Mel Good, center, of Nashville; Graham Roberts, end, of Atlanta, and Walter Stokes, guard, of Jacksonville, Fla.

Rotary Club Honors Tech Grid Squad

Alex Introduces Members of Team.

Georgia Tech football players yesterday were guests of Atlanta Rotary at the annual party. Each player carried away a fine present.

Before the introduction of players by Coach Alexander, the meeting was halted for the President's message to congress.

Coach Alexander said, after introducing the players as battlers who probably would be wearing the uniform of Uncle Sam, that Tech's trip to California to play the University of California probably would be made. The Jackets and Bears meet at Berkeley on December 27.

Alumni Honor Bulldogs Tonight

The Atlanta Alumni Association of the University of Georgia will honor the Georgia Orange Bowl football team tonight at 7 o'clock at the Piedmont Driving Club with a banquet and party.

Members of the football team and the coaching staff will be present. Pictures of the Tech-Georgia football game will be shown. There will also be a floor show.

Tickets are $3 and reservations may be made by calling Charlie Nunnally, president of the club, at Walnut 8330, or the Piedmont Driving Club at Hemlock 0151.

BROTHERS MEET.

PEORIA, Dec. 8.—The 19th annual Brothers' bowling tournament, staged by the Peoria Star, will start on December 26, according to an announcement by Fred Tuerk, sports editor. Last year 1,733 teams, 3,466 brothers, competed. It's a doubles affair with 190 being scratch. Entries will close December 17.

Oregon State's Team Made Up of Lot of Guys Named Joe

Rose Bowlers Lacking Stars, But Not Spirit

Centers, Halfback Are Standouts of 'Starless Starters.'

By GAIL FOWLER.

CORVALLIS, Ore., Dec. 8.—(Wide World)—It's a peculiar football team, this Rose Bowl representative from Oregon State College.

Because—when you think of Oregon State, you think of a team as a unit, and not of a few individual stars augmented by a bunch of guys named Joe.

Oregon State has "all right" two teams of 'em, with substitutes for each team. Coach Lon Stiner, youngest Pacific coast conference mentor at 38, is tickled about it, too, because there's no prima donna trouble on his squad. Just about the time the scribes go wacky over this end or that guard, another end and another guard pop up and make the writers forget all about the first fellows.

TWO STANDOUTS. If stars there be, you'd probably settle on Quentin Greenough, All-Coast center, and left-handed, left-footed Don Durdan, right halfback, who is also a basketball and baseball star.

Greenough is 5 feet, 8 inches tall and weighs 185 pounds. He calls the team's defensive signals and mixes 'em up so well that Oregon State's defense this year was regarded as the trickiest and best on the coast. It was the first to halt Stanford's T formation, ending a 12-game winning streak, and Greenough was the gent who directed the derailment.

Durdan is a speedy, slippery runner, fine passer and tremendous punter. He's five feet, 9 inches, and weighs 172 pounds.

Lanky, Ham-handed Jim Dixon, line coach who used to play tackle for Oregon State, was asked how he accounted for the anonymous effectiveness of his front line guards.

TAKE INTEREST.

Big Jim rubbed his chin stubble for a while, then offered:

"Well, I think one reason our line play is so uniform is that the kids get together and take such an interest in each game. All the left ends, for instance, will parley before a game and lay out their strategy. The left tackles will do the same, and so on.

"So whenever we make a substitution, we know the next man is going to play the same kind of game as his predecessor."

In beating Oregon 12 to 7 to clinch the Rose Bowl bid, the Beavers astounded the fans with the numbers and mobility of the line. In at least three instances, an entire new line was sent in, with no noticeable decrease in effectiveness. Matter of fact, the new players, fresher, even out-drove the fellows they replaced.

FOUR TACKLES. "We've got four tackles," Dixon beamed, "and it doesn't make a difference which one is in there. They're all good."

And that goes for most of the other positions, too, with only a scant drop-off apparent in replacements for Greenough and Durdan. After all, Oregon State started this season with 21 returning letter-men, plus a fine, hand-picked crop of sophomores.

But there ain't any stars.

Yellow Jackets' Larva Fish Killer, Harkins Says

Atlanta Angler and Conservation Leader Declares Now Is the Time to Catch Big Ones.

By JOHN MARTIN.

M. E. Harkins is a purist at heart, but he doesn't let an artificial fly stand in his way when he knows that yellow jackets will take more fish.

The president of the Atlanta Fly and Bait Casting Club and a director of the Georgia Wildlife Federation, might be called the pioneer yellow jacket fisherman of the state, although he admits he borrowed the idea over 20 years ago from a native of the Ogeechee river section.

Should you happen to spot a fellow probing into the ground on the edge of a woods it doesn't necessarily mean that he's a gold prospector or a modern mineralogist in quest of a raw war material. It might easily be Emmett Harkins, the expert fly and bait caster, preparing to take fish with the nest of a yellow jacket colony.

"In many years of fishing," Harkins admitted yesterday, "I have found that the grub of yellow jackets work best, particularly on bream. And where is there a gamier fish than one-pound bream on a fly rod?"

It is an old Harkins trick to excite a bed of bream with a free handout of live yellow jacket grubs.

"Why," he casually explained, "have often crumbled a jacket nest into water and mixed it with some grubs and had bream fighting over this mixture like hogs at a slop trough."

Although the fly is his chief reliance, and there is no better caster in Georgia than our jacket angler, Harkins keeps a large supply of embryonic yellow jackets among his fishing paraphernalia. He hunts jacket nests, while most sane citizens of the outdoors hunt somewhere to run when they encounter them.

The nests are located underground and the Harkins method is simple. He pokes a wad of absorbent cotton, heavily laden with chloform, into the outlet. This puts the adult jackets to sleep and makes the capture of their nest a comparatively easy job of excavation.

"I have had as many as 50,000 jackets on hand at one time," he admitted.

"This time of year," he advised, "when most fishermen have put away their tackle, is when I have my best luck."

He indicated that he had to return many fish to the water on a recent trip, "just so I could stay inside the creel limit which Georgia should have on bream and bass."

Harkins' club is the original sponsor of the Georgia Wildlife Federation, which is vigorously campaigning to remove the wildlife division from the paws of po-

Majors Turn To War Talk, Forget Deals

Landis Noncommittal on Effects Conflict Will Have on Game.

By JUDSON BAILEY.

CHICAGO, Dec. 8.—(P)—Baseball's leaders turned their attention to the war emergency today and the few attempts at trade talks quickly fizzled.

Sitting in their rooms with their ears tuned to the radio bulletins or standing in little huddles in the lobbies, the executives of the leagues and clubs could think of little but the war.

What effect the new emergency would have on baseball was a matter for conjecture, yet in general the old heads of baseball agreed on two points—that the game would do whatever the government wanted it to do, and that for the time being, at least, it would not be seriously handicapped.

EFFECTS GUESSWORK. Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis, his shaggy white head jammed close to a radio, exclaimed:

"Don't it beat hell, they attacked us without warning as they did the Russians years ago."

What will it do to baseball? "No one can even guess. I would be going away out on the limb if I ventured a prediction."

Will Harridge, president of the American League, expressed the thought of everyone by saying "the nation's welfare is, of course, our first concern and we will do whatever is desired by the government, but I'm sure that baseball will carry on its schedule as it always has."

William G. Bramham, president of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues (the minors), said that he had reason to believe the nation wanted baseball to be continued as a relaxation for the people.

"Every business will be affected by the war," he asserted, "and baseball will be hurt just as much and no more than other business. We may have to make sacrifices, and our manpower may be curtailed, but I am certain baseball will continue."

TRADE TALK UP. Others said the war might halt night baseball in some sections and the clubs which have arranged to train next spring on the Pacific coast were a bit disturbed.

During the day the Chicago White Sox had a fruitless trade talk with the Detroit Tigers and the Brooklyn Dodgers were in huddles with the New York Giants and St. Louis Cardinals, but nothing resulted.

Leo (Gaby) Hartnett, long-time catching star and manager of the Chicago Cubs and last year a coach with the New York Giants, signed as manager at Indianapolis in the American Association and the Chicago White Sox sold outfielder Julius (Moose) Solters to St. Paul.

Business sessions of the major leagues start tomorrow.

Tway Is Re-elected Field Trial Head

Jack Tway, well-known sportsman, was re-elected president of the Atlanta Field Trial Club last night.

He was chosen 1942 leader of the organization at the final meeting of the club this year.

W. F. (Bill) Floyd, whose Glimmergal won the Open All-Age of the Newnan trials last Saturday, was elected vice president, and John Huey was named second vice president.

Other officers for 1942 are: W. O. Lindsay, treasurer; H. W. Bray, assistant treasurer; W. C. (Bill) Satterthwait, secretary; T. R. Atkinson, assistant secretary; and Ray Carter, J. H. Geffken, Dr. H. W. Ridley, C. W. Crawford and H. H. Jarrett, directors.

The Giants, in their day and time, had such pitchers as Mathewson, McGinnity, Wilkie, Ames, Marquard, Tesreau, Nehf, Schupp—and the great Hubbell. They have had such ball players as Devlin, Bresnahan, Donlin, Beauty Bancroft, Heinie Groh, Pep Young, Buck Herzog, Larry Doyle, Bill Terry, George Kelly, and a long line of others well up on the list. It is different now.

Out's Job.

No one can expect Mel Ott to reach into the dugout and bring forth a miracle. These are tough rebuilding days for any owner or manager.

You'll read where the Dodgers need two or maybe three additions—where the Cardinals can stand pat—where the Reds need a few changes—where the Pirates need pitchers—but the Giant need takes in the pitching staff, the infield and the outfield.

Mel Ott is a smart, keen baseball man who knows his trade. But he will need at least 10 or 12 new, good ball players before he will be back in old Giant territory, around the top. And good ball players are not picked up around the first corner. It is hard enough to get one or two good new men, much less 10 or 12 or more.

Someone has let the Giant man-

City Basketball

One of the hottest races for individual scoring honors ever to be seen in this section of the country is being staged in the City Basketball League, which holds forth each Tuesday night at the Y. M. C. A. This bracket, composing seven of the fastest teams in the Atlanta area, are entering their fourth week in competition and finds a two-way struggle for first-half honors. Dental College Greens and the Erikson Manufacturing Company are firmly lodged in first position while the rest of the field is strung out with little hope of catching the flying leaders.

The shotmakers have been hitting the hoops with regularity in all seasons and finds Gene Lewis, of Calvary Methodist, leading the procession by bagging 28 markers in two games. This six-foot, six-inch player, one of the tallest in the league, assumed the leadership by bagging 13 against Bell System in the first game of the season, and then hitting for 16 the night Dental College was played. But in both cases his team came out on the short end of the count. Ned Iverson and Stephenson, of Columbia Seminary, have 28 points in three games. Stephenson, the Princeton Preachers, have been defeated in all contests played. Stephenson holds the highest single game total with 18, credit counted against the Motor Transport School.

The 10 leading point-makers of the league:

1. Lewis, of Calvary Methodist, 28 points in two games.

2. Iverson, of Columbia Seminary, 25 points in three games.

3. Martin, of Dental College Greens, 25 points in three games.

4. Norman, of Bell System, 24 points in three games.

5. Wood, of Bell System, 26 points in three games.

6. Grotenstein, of Dental College Greens, 20 points in three games.

7. Osborne, of Motor Transport School, 17 points in two games.

8. Hal Hardy, of Bell System, 17 points in one game.

9. Kahl, of Motor Transport School, 15 points in two games.

FROM MCGRAW TO OTT

There was a time, not so many dynasties ago, when the New York Giants were the most valuable franchise in baseball—worth more than almost any stock on the big exchange. Now the same Giants are in a spot where it may well take a million dollars to bring them a first-division ball club, where the success of the Brooklyn Dodgers kept them gloating neck deep in the surf.

It is a far and eerie cry from McGraw's Giants of 1905 to Mel Ott's Giants of 1942 and the home-run hitter from Gretna, La., has a long and rough pull upward to get them on old camping grounds.

That 1905 delegation was the first batch of McGraw Giants I ever saw in action, and it still remains in memory among the best in the game. At any rate, you'll find no stronger battery work today than Mathewson and McGinnity pitching to Bresnahan.

There was plenty of Irish on that Giant squad—McGinnity, Bresnahan, McGann, Devlin and Mike Donlin, to mention only a few. It was the beginning of a new Giant history that was picked with merry sagas up until the last three years when Bill Terry's material dropped to the second-division class and floundered out of polite baseball society.

The Giants, in their day and time, had such pitchers as Mathewson, McGinnity, Wilkie, Ames, Marquard, Tesreau, Nehf, Schupp—and the great Hubbell. They have had such ball players as Devlin, Bresnahan, Donlin, Beauty Bancroft, Heinie Groh, Pep Young, Buck Herzog, Larry Doyle, Bill Terry, George Kelly, and a long line of others well up on the list. It is different now.

The Changing Years

I can take you back to the days when the Yankees were struggling on the old hilltop, and the Dodgers were just another club in the National League. At this time the Giants were the Mt. Everest of baseball. Under McGraw they were winning 10 pennants. The Yankees and Dodgers were trying to get out of the second division the greater part of the time.

Last fall the Yankees and Dodgers met in the World Series show with the Giants so deep in the second division that it took a deep-sea diver to locate their bodies.

This shows how drastically situations can change in this windswept existence. As George M. Cohan, baseball's leading fan once wrote, "It isn't what you used to be—it's what you are today."

Just who it was that let the Giants go to seed—Stoneman or Terry—isn't so important now if it's right move is made to bring them back. But the point is that the Dodgers and the Cardinals are already strongly fixed around the top—the Reds have the pitching that may again carry them close—the Pirates and the Cubs have been building for another upward surge. It is easy enough to understand the killing job Mel Ott faces in clearing most of these hurdles, especially if First Baseman Babe Young goes into the Army.

Ott himself, always a great ball player, is a long way from the kid that McGraw once called to action. So is Carl Hubbell, rated by Lon Warner as the greatest pitcher he ever saw.

The Race Ahead

Larry MacPhail, Les Durocher and the Dodgers at large will go all out to hold their championship rating next spring and summer. The Cardinals will be out there swinging from start to finish with a better ball club than they had this past season. You can gamble that the Reds, Pirates and Cubs will be much better.

So the matter of getting the Giants out of the second division in 1942 will be close to a miracle. It will take time and money—with the accent on the cash.

Mel Ott is almost certain to do his share, but that will only be part of the job ahead.

Someone has let the Giant man-

Dorothy Kirby Honored

Dorothy Kirby, former southern golf champion, will be honored as the "Woman of the Month" at a luncheon to be given by the Georgia Woman's Radio Guild next Monday at Capital City Club.

Each month the Radio Guild honors an outstanding Georgia woman. This is the first time the organization has selected a woman from the field of sports. Mrs. Robert H. Jones Jr. said in making the announcement.

Miss Kirby's record in golf includes runner-up honors in the National two years ago, as well as the Southern title and four state championships.

She has won numerous invitation tournaments.

this is not a matter of personal opinion, and I have some interesting facts for you. First, there is no ivy in the Rose Bowl. Second, there are 17,800 individual rose bushes, including 89 different varieties of roses, now growing at the Rose Bowl. I imagine that you could pick at least one full carload of roses were you here today.

In Short Mayor Alsop, of Jacksonville, Fla., greeting baseball delegates to the National Minor League Convention, recalled that he once was captain of a Mercer University football eleven and a teammate of the late George Stallings.

Wallace McCormack, now a Cracker, last year was a member of a St. Augustine, Fla., pitching staff that had a combined earned run average of 2.18 in 126 games. In other words, the Saints' staff allowed only a fraction over two runs per nine innings. It's almost an incredible professional baseball record.

Just about every major league baseball team—14 out of 16—will have a training base in Florida this coming season. And many minor league teams augment the bigger brothers to make the Sunshine State virtual spring headquarters of organized baseball.

Just to illustrate the spirit of Americans, the boys were offering Japan and 21 points at the Touchdown Club yesterday.

Ed Corley, in his fighting days around here known as Fearless Ferns, has been on the Jacksonville, Fla., police force for a dozen years. Ferns was in charge of press headquarters during the day at Jacksonville, while at night Jerry Cooper, who formerly worked in the Athens "Y," stood guard. Ferns has a 15-year-old daughter, Virginia, in Lee High school.

Dr. Palmer Is Chosen To Lead the Grand March.

SYNOPSIS. Polly McMurray is a raven-haired, bronzed girl of the wide open spaces. She is a senior at Frontier University, a college for girls near the McMurray ranch. Dr. Kenyon Thomas Palmer has just been named president of Frontier and when he arrives at the school he brings along his son, Ken, tall, handsome and in his early twenties but very bashful. Polly and her brother Ward takes Ken under their wings and are trying to acquaint him with western ways. Ken has been granted special permission to become the only male student at Frontier. Joy Kathryn Boone, wealthy glamour girl and orphan from Bar Harbor, New York and points east has decided to transfer to Frontier. She makes a dramatic forced landing in her private plane on the McMurray ranch after her secretary, Bettina Carlson, falls out and floats down safely during a desert storm. Doctor Palmer takes an immediate interest in Miss Carlson and is anxious to make Joy happy. From then on, Polly, Ward and their father, Buck McMurray, ranchman and trustee of the university, are co-operating with Doctor Palmer in making Joy content for the good of the school, but Polly feels pang of jealousy when Joy demonstrates unusual interest in Ken. A climax is reached when Joy tells she is in love with Ken and thinking of marrying him.

INSTALLMENT XXI.

Eventually the high officers of the freshmen class met in solemn session and made their decision. The class president herself announced it at the next morning's school assembly in the main amphitheater.

"We have decided," she said, "to give the honor—and it is an honor, we feel—to the person who most deserves it, to one who has brought new life to this university, to one who has made many friends although is new in this school and community, one who—"

Joy Boone's supporters broke into applause at once. Applause and shrieks of victory. Joy's face brightened. Polly tried to look pleased, and in a sense was. In another sense, though, she was deeply distressed.

"So we have selected," the speaker went on, "our beloved president, Dr. K. T. Palmer himself, to lead our grand march, with whosoever he chooses, and it will be an honor to follow him and thus publicly welcome him into Frontier's social life. We feel—"

The announcement was little short of sensational.

There was a groaning in let-down. A buzz of exclamations and talk about the amphitheater. A tactful speech of acceptance by Dr. Palmer, then renewed and genuine applause. It all made exciting drama for a day in the lives of these college girls.

But one of them, Polly McMurray, realized all too well that it would simply serve to center even more attention on herself and Joy Boone. On herself, who secretly had the date with Ken Palmer Jr., whom Joy had connived for!

Panic swelled in Polly greater than ever. When you love a man it is good just to be near him, even though you know the love is not returned. Polly McMurray told herself that repeatedly, as excuse to "drop in" at the university library when she knew Ken Palmer would be there.

Most of the time she did not let him see her. It would never, never do to have him suspect anything! Or—would it?

"I don't see why women can't openly and frankly court the man they choose, just as men court the women they want," she told herself. "But that's the way it is. I—I could never run after him! Or any man!" Her problem, of course, was as old as civilization: to make the man of her choice take the initiative on his own. With a man as quiet and shy as Ken Palmer, it wouldn't be easy. Especially with so many other considerations to complicate matters.

Her immediate and constant worry now was the vivacious blond girl who had avowed herself to be Polly's friend, Joy Boone.

"Did you tell him, Polly?" Joy demanded. "Did you talk to him?" "Sure. Promised to, didn't I?" "Tell me! What did he say?" Joy was ebullient this morning. Her violet eyes literally flashed with interest.

"Oh, a lot of things. Not much, either. Ken isn't too talkative, you know. He is deep, reads and studies a lot. In fact, he's about the most brilliant boy I ever knew, and needs only to find the proper outlet for his knowledge when he finishes school, but—"

"Polly, I mean about—me! About taking me to the freshman masquerade. Is he going to ask me?"

The dark-haired girl forced a laugh. "Give me time! I have to handle a man like Ken with gloves on."

But bluffing could go only so far, Polly knew. In truth she was desperate, striving for time to figure out some course of procedure torn between loyalty to a friend on the one hand and by normal instincts of self loyalty on the other. Unhappy with it all, she had bluffed Joy for days, while the campus built up more and more excited interest in the forthcoming party. Everywhere the talk was about the ball, who would be there with whom, who would wear what, who was saying this, that and the other.

Three days before the party Joy pinned Polly right down. It was time, Polly knew, when a definite answer had to be given. She could feel her heart pounding in this interview with Joy.

"He—Ken is so bashful," she tried again. But she realized that wouldn't work.

All at once, in desperation, she took a course she hadn't planned. On impulse she made up a deliberate if unselfish falsehood. "Joy, you mustn't expect Ken to be—be conventional. Remember he is the president's son, for one thing. Among 600 girls. And bashful by nature, too. He—well, he reversed the business about you. He wants me to make his date, with you!"

"Unh-huh," a fib gets insidiously easier after the first jump in. Polly discovered. "He requested me to ask you if he might have a date. Wasn't that really better? I just let him on, and all, so that I—so that it was his own idea. I mean, I didn't have to suggest it, even. He has been practicing dancing. He wants to go. He—he made his own date. I'm just a messenger, see?"

"That's grand!" Joy was giggling. "But don't you embarrass him!" Polly turned to her with sudden intensity. "Don't say anything to him about it. Or to anyone. Just be ready. Make it as easy for him as you can."

"Of course—gee-e-e-e!" The effect of all this was too plain. Joy Kathryn Boone was testing a genuinely novel experience—for the first time in her young life dating a man who was shy and retiring, a direct contrast to the cocky, too audacious youths and other males who had courted her back east. It was a brand new sensation for the sensation-loving Joy Boone.

Polly was staring off, appalled, really, at her own actions here. Her bright rounded face was almost colorless. Trouble shone in her deep brown eyes. She clutched her school books almost fiercely, and she was nervously biting her lower lip.

All at once she acted impulsively again. Suddenly contrite now for thinking unkind things, suddenly feeling a genuine liking for the blond girl beside her, she turned to Joy and squeezed her wrist.

"Listen, Joy—tell you what! You're to spend the night of the ball with me, Friday. Miss Carlson is going with Dr. Palmer—everybody's so thrilled over that!—and she'll be busy with her own make up and costume and all. Give her freedom and stay with me, and we'll help each other. Will you?"

"Sure! I'd love it! Ken has a car. I'm crazy about his funny old wreck. It will be all right for a costume party."

"I'll tell him to come out for you," said Polly. Wherefore, on the Friday afternoon of the Masque, Joy was at Paradise ranch early. She was too keyed up to notice that Polly seemed depressed. She laughed and chattered almost too much. Ward McMurray beamed constantly at her during dinner. He tried to tease the two girls. He, as a matter of fact, might have noticed that his sister was lacking her usual verve, but for the fact that Joy Boone held all of his attention. Immediate interest after dinner was the business of dressing—always a pleasure when there is to be a masquerade.

Under Polly's guidance, Joy was to be converted into an Apache Indian Maiden. "Best way in the world to conceal your identity!" Polly had declared. "You're a golden blond, with skin as fair as a girl's from England. But when we get through with you—yippee!"

A Phoenix costume shop had strained itself to order the proper things, some of them quite expensive. And now in her room Polly was converting Joy from the white race to the red.

"First thing is a coating of bronzy-brown," she said. "It's just theatrical paint, comes off easily when you're done. Then we'll high-light the cheeks to make them bulge like an Indian's."

"What about my hands?" "We ordered gloves—remember? And you have very long sleeves."

There was a complete wig. False hair, coal black, and dressed like that of an Apache girl at an important tribal ceremonial. It completely hid Joy's blond ringlets which tied up on top. Even at this stage Joy Boone was another person. Before the mirror she and Polly admired their work on her, laughing and noting the complete change even though as yet Joy wore only the wig, the paint, a bra and scarves.

They decided on silk hose and regular slippers because the costume dresses would hide them anyway. Authentic Indian foot-wear would make paleface dancing next to impossible, and I do love to dance!" Joy supplied.

Crowning glory of her costume was the petticoats. First a gray one. Then a black, then a crimson, then a blue. "Honest, Polly, however did anybody wear these things? So many of them! Were they really like this?" "Honest?"

Polly laughed. "Still are! The Indian women all go in for quantity of dresses, heel length."

Broad ruffles adorned each petticoat; and the outer dress, a figured print, was ruffled all over and further decorated with lace. Finally, there was a blanket. It was Navajo weave, but Polly explained that the Apaches often bartered for the other Indian's blankets, which were of rich woolen beauty and quality. It would make ideal warmth for the night ride on Ken's courtship jockey.

"You must remember to act the part as well as look it," Polly warned Joy repeatedly. "Giggle a lot if you can—that's Indian girl style. But don't talk. Not naturally. Remember there's a prize for the most authentic rascal, and all."

It was perhaps characteristic of Joy that she gave no thought this evening to Polly's own costume. Did not, in fact, remember even to ask about it, or offer to help. All Joy's life she had accepted aid and service and courtesies from others, paying for it in her own way. It was not a matter of selfishness, but a matter of habit. She would have been most contrite if she had simply remembered at all. But she didn't. She was all tight with anticipation.

Concerned with her own evening's success, with Ken Palmer. Ken arrived shortly after Joy was ready. "Go meet him!" Polly commanded, somewhat frantically now. "I—I can't go out. I'm not dressed. Remember, don't talk much. Act!"

Juan Castro Directs Own Work Tonight*Leading Argentina Conductor Presents 'Symphony of Field.'

Juan Jose Castro, Argentina's leading composer-conductor, will direct the first radio performance of his own "Symphony of the Fields" when he makes the second of three guest appearances with the NBC Symphony orchestra tonight, over the NBC-Blue network and WAGA at 9:30 o'clock.

Written in 1938 as a tribute to the pampas, the great treeless plains of Argentina, "Symphony of the Fields," is one of the most important of Castro's nationalistic compositions, which have been described as "spacious, luminous and lucidly Latin."

The Castro work will come second on the program. The opening selection will be Weber's "Freischütz" Overture and the closing work will be selections from Stravinsky's "Petrouchka."

The concert will be beamed to Latin America over NBC's short-wave station, WRCA, with commentary in Spanish by Llopi de Olivares of NBC's International Division.

Bill of Rights Signer Talks On Air Tonight*Governor Discovers State Failed To Ratify the Noted Measure.

The present governor of Massachusetts, the Honorable Leverett Saltonstall, will appear on "We, the People" to tell how he signed America's priceless Bill of Rights, as Eddie Dowling's guest over the WABC-Columbia network tonight at 9 o'clock over WGST.

While preparing a recent speech, Governor Saltonstall discovered that Massachusetts had never ratified the Bill of Rights, as the first 10 amendments to the Constitution of the United States are called. The governor transmitted to the legislature a resolution giving his state's official acceptance of the document. Then the governor sent the document to the secretary of state of the United States.

Gracie Taps Till For Yule Present

Taking $50 from her savings, Gracie Allen sets out to buy a Christmas gift for George Burns during the course of the Burns and Allen show tonight, at 7:30 o'clock over WGST.

Gracie is a bit vague as to her husband's preferences but has no difficulty finding things that suit her own fancy—with the result that most of the $50 goes to the purchase of personal trinkets.

The Paul Whiteman have leased a bungalow in Beverly Hills, near the Burns' residence, but Mrs. Whiteman is desperate for a kitchen mechanic who can satisfy the culinary demands of her hungry husband. George tries to domesticate Herman the Duckling, while Gracie is putting the Whiteman menage in a muddle.

Comedian Hope Host To Pat O'Brien at 10

Bob Hope will play host to his old pal, Pat O'Brien, during the broadcast tonight at 10 o'clock over the NBC-Red network and WSB. Hope's screen star guest will add some expert Hibernian heckling to the efforts of Comedian Jerry Colonna, Songstress Frances Langford and Skinnay Ennis and his orchestra.

Mrs. Leona Unger Burke, 33-year-old housewife of Glen Beulah, Wis., was married in 1931, widowed in 1932. Her husband—so far as she knew—had no rich relatives when he met death by stepping into a spinning airplane propeller.

"By coincidence," says Mills, "I've had eight comedy shows in a row, and I've been finding it difficult to devise instrumental effects which are laugh getters. 'But oh, boy, what fun I had with the score for 'Ladies in Retirement'! I found all sorts of musical tricks to paint a musical picture of forlorn swamp lands."

Cliff Goldsmith brought his 13-year-old son, Pat, into New York for last Thursday's "Aldrich family," and during the course of the outing they went to see the Kaufman-Ferber play, "The Land Is Bright."

Came the curtain for the first intermission curtain. Said Pat: "Time out!" Like a good father, Cliff had an answer. "No," he replied, "First quarter."

Jeannette Rankin, Lone Dissenter, Part-Time Georgian

By DAN MAGILL.

Constitution Staff Correspondent
ATHENS, Ga., Dec. 8.—Congresswoman Jeannette Rankin, of Montana, who has a part-time rural home between Athens and Bogart, today in Washington cast her second vote against war after a lapse of 24 years. She said "no" the first time on April 6, 1917.

Miss Rankin often has told friends here she came to Georgia as a result of the tolerant attitude of Georgia toward her vote against war with Germany.

Coming here about 15 years ago, Miss Rankin bought a small tract of land near Bogart, off the old Atlanta road. There she built a cottage which was burned recently when an oil stove owned by the family of a tenant exploded. She now has under construction another "hut" for her home when she visits here. Miss Rankin also owns a farm in Oconee county, near Watkinsville.

At first regarded as a "menace" by many in this section when she came here to live two decades ago, Miss Rankin was later held to be an idealist who was "hipped" on one idea. She lived at her country cottage for several months each year until about five years ago when she began to spend less time here.

At one time after coming here she was active in trying to organize sentiment against war at a time when the former French Premier Briand, the late Secretary of State Kellogg, the late Senator Borah and other public leaders were fostering a ban on wars as a means of settling disputes between nations.

But the world passed Miss Rankin by, and it was Japan against whom her country declared war today that led in the world movement away from peaceful arbitration of international difficulties.

Miss Rankin visited her Georgia home last month. But stayed here only a few days. She was re-elected to congress in Montana last year at a time when isolationism was more popular than it is now, but her vote against war in 1917 and again today is regarded by those who know her well here as representing an idealistic abhorrence to war, rather than political isolationism.

AIDED ESTABLISHMENT OF "PEACE CHAIR"
Representative Jeannette Rankin, Republican of Montana, who yesterday cast her vote against the declaration of war against Japan, was instrumental in establishing a chair of peace at Brenau College in Greenville in 1934. Atlanta members of the American Legion recalled yesterday.

Remembering that Miss Rankin had voted against the United States entering the first World War, her chair of peace met with a hostile reception among Georgia Legionnaires. Kenneth Murrell, then commander of Atlanta Post No. 1, headed a delegation which went to Gainesville to protest against the chair before the Brenau trustees. After a hearing, the chair was abolished.

Miss Rankin Urged To Change Ballot
CUT BANK, Mont., Dec. 8.—(AP) Representative Jeannette Rankin, Republican Montana, who cast the only vote in Congress against declaring war on Japan, was called upon by Dan Whetstone, Montana Republican National Committee man, to "redeem Montana's honor" by changing her vote.

Whetstone telegraphed Miss Rankin: "As soon as word of the treacherous attack of Japan on American possessions reached this state, Montanans made the only decision possible for loyal Americans, to assert full support to the administration in defense of this nation. Messages from all parts of Montana indicate disappointment over your attitude in failing to support the war declaration. I urge and beseech you to redeem Montana's honor and loyalty and change your vote as early as possible."
